Shotwell, Two Others May Switch Income Tax Vote

Measure May Be Revived On Wednesday

Harrisburg (AP)—The administration last night fixed Wednesday for its effort to revive the defeated State income tax bill—with the result in doubt.

"Frankly, I do not know whether the Republican leadership has enough votes to pass it," Speaker Herbert P. Sorg told a newsmen.

The proposal for a one-half of one per cent income tax, designed to raise $119,000,000 in the next two years, went to a surprising 108 to 98 defeat in the House last Wednesday.

Twenty-two Republicans voted against the measure, including three GOP leaders who changed their votes to "no" to enable reconsideration of the bill.

Of the 19 GOP House opposed to the bill last week, 16 were reported sticking to their guns. The other three, Reps. Paige Varner (Clarion), John S. Shotwell (Monroe) and Edward Dunn (Northumberland), said there was a possibility they may switch their "no" votes to "yes."

The big Republican delegations—five from Schuylkill, five from Montgomery and four from Delaware county—stood pat.

While the tax battle churned beneath the surface, both Senate and House ran through short sessions on non-controversial subjects to permit Democratic legislators to attend a Jefferson-Jackson day dinner in Philadelphia. The Senate was in session for 40 minutes, the House for 50 minutes.

The House passed a bill which would set up a State board of nurses to regulate and license nurses in Pennsylvania. The measure went to the Senate.

The House also advanced for a vote a Senate-approved proposal calling for annual sessions of the Legislature.

A deficiency appropriation bill of $10,000,000 to carry relief until the end of the present biennium on May 31 passed finally in the Senate. It was sent to the Governor.

On the income tax fight, G. Harold Watkins, Schuylkill county Republican chairman, said his five House members would confer today on the controversial issue.

"As it stands today, however, the members feel they are still against the bill," said Watkins.

Rep. Edward S. Swartz (R-Dauphin), an outspoken Republican against the income tax, said principal pressure to change his vote came from the Pennsylvania State Education association and the Pennsylvania Manufacturers association.

"A week ago, I felt the income tax bill was wrong," said Swartz. "Today, I know it is wrong. That's the only change in my opinion."

Rep. John C. Miller (R-Beaver), another GOP House member who voted against the income tax measure, also reported he was contacted on the weekend by the teachers' and manufacturers' groups.

Varner said he conferred with the Governor on the income tax bill but that he gave Fine no assurance that he would change his "no" vote.

The 86-vote Democratic bloc in the House was reported to be as solid as ever in its stand against the levy.

In the face of that, the Republican leadership needs four more votes than it had last Wednesday. A constitutional majority of 105 is required to pass a bill in the House.

The Schuylkill county House delegation conferred with United Mine Workers spokesmen at Shenandoah and Frackville over the weekend and received praise for its stand against an income tax.

Watkins took the stand that other fields of possible revenue should be explored before going ahead with the income tax.

For example, he said the cent a bottle soft drinks tax should not be allowed to die, pointing out it brought in $29,000,000 in the past two years.

Non-Operating Rail Workers Won't Get Full 6-Cent Hike Promised By White House

Washington, (AP)—A million railroad workers aren't going to get the full six cents an hour cost of living increase promised them in a White House agreement.

Economic Stabilizer Eric Johnston said the full six cents would be more than the wage freeze allows, and so the Army announced yesterday that the increase would be limited to 1½ cents.

President Truman, however, has ordered the creation of a special panel to consider the conflict between the March 1 wage agreement and the stabilization program. And the Army said it will consider the cost-of-living payment after this panel's report is approved.

The workers involved are non-operating employees such as shop workers, clerks and machinists.

Their non-operating employees won a flat 12½ cents an hour increase in a mediation agreement reached at the White House in March. In addition, this agreement called for a cost of living raise that worked out to an additional six cents an hour on April 1.

The president of one of their unions, Jesse Clark of the AFL Brotherhood of Railroad Signalmen, said the Army's decision "will have serious repercussions."

"It will cause an upheaval in the industry and in the country as a whole," Clark said in Chicago.

George Leighty, a spokesman for the non-operating unions, expressed disappointment the workers aren't going to get the wage increase, but said he thought the special panel would take prompt action on the matter.

In New York, the New York Central railroad said it is laying off several thousand employees in 11 eastern states.

A railroad spokesman said the reasons for the layoff included a drop in business volume, recent wage increases and higher prices of materials. The spokesman said the railroad lost about $10,000,000 in the first three months of this year, chiefly because of a "sick call" strike of switchmen.

A check with some of the other principal railroads disclosed that the lay-offs are not general.

Chinese Open Dam In Futile Attempt To Block U.N. Troops

Tokyo, Tuesday, (AP)—American tanks today pushed deeper into the heart of Red Korea up a gorge which retreating Chinese tried desperately to block by opening flood gates of a dam.

But the trick failed. Instead of bogging down the Allied push in central Korea, Red defenders of Hwachon reservoir found their rear guards threatened by the advancing armor.

The tanks skirted the swollen but already receding Pukhan river and rolled along a gorge road which the released millions of tons of water failed to reach.

Between 200 and 300 Reds, who pulled back across the Pukhan just before the flood-gates were opened Monday, were squeezed into a narrow neck of land between the river and the western end of the dam.

Far to the northwest of the front action, 12 U. S. F-86 Sabers won a new sky fight today with eight Russian-type MIG-15 jets. They shot down one MIG and damaged another near Sinuiju in an area now known as "MIG Alley." That brought the bag of enemy HIGS to six destroyed and 16 damaged in sky fights so far this month.

Allied planes reported the Reds resorting to new measures in desperate efforts to keep supplies and men moving toward the battle lines. Last night the 1,850 Red vehicles spotted were moving along little-used roads instead of the main highways.

The opening of flood gates at Hwachon reservoir—Korea's third largest dam—proved a washout to the Red cause. The Chinese had failed to open enough gates at once to cause the deluge they wanted.

"It's just one of the things I do every so often, like getting a haircut," said the 59-year-old Pan-American Airways timekeeper.

"I feel no effects."

Board Quits In Rift Over Closing School

All five members of the Price township school board have resigned in a surprise move believed to be the first of its kind in Monroe county.

The resignations were submitted to President Judge Fred W. Davis, of Monroe county courts, late Saturday, but no announcement was made until yesterday.

Clarence A. Lesoine, East Stroudsburg RD 2, who served as president of the resigned board, said last night that discussion throughout the township and friction concerning the financing of the 1951-52 school year prompted the board to quit.

Since all board members made their moves to resign at the same time, the resignation was made with the county courts.

The resigned members include Justin Cramer, who had been treasurer of the board; Layton H. Brush, the board secretary; Lesoine, Austin Brush, a member, and Ervin W. Gross, the fifth member of the five-man board.

All but Gross made their resignations effective Thursday, April 12. Gross mentioned no specific date, but the wording of the terse statement indicated it was effective immediately.

Layton Brush resigned not only as a board member but also as secretary of the board. Cramer, who had been treasurer holding the only other office for which a non-member of the board would be eligible, failed to include the word treasurer in his resignation, but it was reported late yesterday that this was an oversight which will be corrected.

Claude E. Metzgar, prothonotary and clerk of courts, said all five resignations have been filed with the court.

The Price township board conducts one of the few one-room schools in the region. This year's pupil population in the sparsely settled township is 17, all of whom are elementary students in grades one through six.

Disagreement in regard to school board policy reportedly came to a head at a taxpayers' meeting held March 26, at which time those attending voted 26 to 10 to increase the assessed valuation of property in the township in order to obtain sufficient funds for operating next year.

At the same time, those at the meeting indicated they are in favor of transporting Price pupils to another school district, preferably East Stroudsburg.

Several sources said yesterday, however, that strenuous opposition to transporting pupils has developed, since residents fear that, once the small township school is abandoned, it may never be reopened again in face of modern trends toward centralization and consolidation.

Several of the resigned members told of a plan for transporting the present number of Price pupils to East Stroudsburg at a cost which would be less than that of operating the one-teacher school.

They added, though, that this saving would not continue if the school district pupil population were to increase in later years.

County Superintendent John C. Litts said yesterday that his office has been advised of the mass resignations and that Dr. Francis B. Haas, State superintendent of public instruction, has also been notified.

Under the Pennsylvania school code, the court must wait at least 10 days and then appoint a temporary school board which will serve until the next regular election in the township.

Present indication is that Judge Davis will appoint a temporary panel after April 22, which would be 10 days from the effective date of the four resignations.

Two Stroudsburg Men Return To War Duty After Being Missing Since February

Joy filled the household of Mr. and Mrs. John Tanner, 924 Sarah St., Stroudsburg, yesterday with the receipt of a telegram from Pfc. Glenn John Tanner, their son.

Pfc. Glenn John Tanner

reporting he was "all right and will be home soon." The great news came on his father's 40th birthday.

Young Tanner was reported missing in action in Korea on February 6 this year. The wire received yesterday was completely devoid of any specific information regarding the Stroudsburg boy's experiences.

It is assumed, however, that he was with other GIs who had either been taken prisoner and escaped or had been isolated from their units for such a period of time to cause the Defense department to list them as "missing in action." Tanner attended local schools and worked for sometime before he enlisted in the Army on July 20, 1950. He was given a "delay enroute" furlough which brought him home here around Thanksgiving, 1950.

When Tanner left home after the furlough he moved to the west coast with an infantry unit and directly to Korea. Tanner participated in some of the major winter offensives of late 1950 and early 1951 before he was declared missing in action.

The wire he sent his parents yesterday indicated Tanner will be returned to the United States and home in the near future.

Oddly, on Saturday the Defense department wired the Tanners there was still no word of their son. He was, at that time, listed as "missing in action."

Biological War Held Improbable

St. Louis (AP)—Biological warfare probably couldn't start large-scale disease epidemics in America, Dr. Robert E. Dyer, of Emory University said yesterday.

Biological war (BW) is being discussed as a new kind of war. Enemy planes or ships could spread disease germs. Or saboteurs could spill germs into water supplies, or into ventilating systems of buildings.

"It is doubtful that a widespread epidemic could be started that way," Dr. Dyer, formerly director of the National Institute of Health and now director of research at Emory, told the American College of Physicians.

Jury Indicts Accused Slayer

Seranton (AP)—A Wyoming county grand jury yesterday indicted Charles E. Homeyer, 53, formerly of Factoryville, on charges of murder and forgery.

Homeyer is accused of having murdered his wife, Anna, 64, former circus aerialist and Bronx rooming house proprietress, and of having forged her name to the deed for the home when it was sold.

Parts of a woman's body identified by neighbors as that of Mrs. Homeyer were found buried in the basement of the home.

The trial is expected to begin at the June term of court.

Situation Desperate

New York, (AP)—Erle Cocke Jr., national American Legion commander, said yesterday a "desperate situation" in Korea offers Army troops only two chances of relief from battle—being wounded or killed.

It was a busy but happy day yesterday for Mrs. Laura S. Thomas, 553 Main St., Stroudsburg.

She spent most of her time answering queries and telephone calls from friends.

The reason behind all this was a brief telegram from Brig. Gen. John H. McCormick, director of military personnel, U. S. Air Force.

It stated: "I am pleased to inform you that your son, 1st Lt. Donald S. Thomas Sr., who was previously reported missing in action, has been returned to military control."

"I hope that you will soon have the comfort of hearing directly from him."

The 29-year-old bombardier-navigator was reported missing in action February 14 with two other members of his crew. Their plane, a B-26 medium bomber, failed to return after making its second bombing run in one day over Red-controlled Korean territory.

Word reached his mother of his promotion to captain after he had been reported missing.

Captain Thomas, who is married and has a five-year-old son, Donald Jr., is a graduate of Stroudsburg High school and served with the Air Force during the last war.

His wife, Margaret, returned from Japan to her Birmingham, Ala., home a month ago and expressed conviction that her husband was still alive.

Since no word has been received yet from the airman, details of his whereabouts and what has happened to him since last February are not known.

Hope rose for the crew's safety shortly before Captain Thomas' wife returned to the State.

Advancing U. N. forces located a B-26 bomber which had crashed. Although apparently in tact and not burned, it had flipped over on its back. Since it was in an inaccessible position, it was not known at the time whether it was the missing plane Thomas was in.

"I can hardly wait to hear what has happened to him," Mrs. Thomas said last night. "I never lost hope that he'd be found alive and his wife had an unshakable faith. I can truthfully say that I can attribute this to prayer."

Douglas Opposes Abolishing RFC

Washington (AP)—Senator Douglas (D-Ill.) came out yesterday against abolishing the Reconstruction Finance Corp. he helped to investigate. To kill the agency at this time, he said, "would be like throwing the baby out with the bath."

"The RFC, with all its faults, has served many useful functions—especially in filling a gap in our credit structure," Douglas said. He added that it can continue to serve the public if it is properly conducted.

The Illinois Democrat also called for a higher standard of ethics in the national capital, where he claimed there was too much moral laxity.

"Government work should not be settled at cocktail parties or around dinner tables in hotels," he said.

16 Die In Crash

Hong Kong (AP)—A two-engined Siamese Airlines plane crashed into the sea yesterday off Cape D'Agulard, seaward tip of Hong Kong island, while attempting a landing through low clouds and rain. All 11 passengers and the Siamese crew of five were believed lost.

New Advisory Board Meets With Truman

Washington (AP)—President Truman appealed yesterday for the "complete cooperation" of every segment of our population in the mobilization program.

Mr. Truman made the appeal at the initial meeting of his new Mobilization Advisory board composed of labor, industry, farm and public members and headed by Economic Mobilizer Charles E. Wilson.

Joseph Short, White House press secretary, told reporters afterwards that Mr. Truman informed the group that "aggression, inflation and relaxation" are the nation's biggest problems.

Asked what Mr. Truman meant by "relaxation" being a problem, Short replied "well, just that in general—he doesn't want the people to let down."

The president discussed two principal situations with the 17-member board.

One—Ways to change the defense production act to help do a better job of military rearmament and, at the same time, do a more effective job in controlling inflation. The act expires June 30.

Two—The problem of putting the Wage Stabilization board back into business. It has been inactive since union labor representatives walked out two months ago in protest against mobilization policies.

Toll In Crash Mounts To 20

Charleston, W. Va., (AP)—Plans for a mass military funeral took shape slowly yesterday as the death toll in the flaming crash of an Air Force plane on a nearby mountaintop climbed to 20.

Capt. Harry K. Blackhurst, 31, of Charleston, one of two officers thrown alive from the craft Sunday as it ripped a blazing streak along a wooded ridge, died in a hospital.

Still given at least a 50-50 chance of recovering was the lone survivor, Maj. Isaac E. Bonifas of Portland, Ind. He lay swathed in bandages beneath an oxygen tent.

Court Sets Aside Conviction Of Two Florida Negroes

Washington, (AP)—The Supreme court set aside yesterday the conviction of two Florida Negroes who had been sentenced to die for the rape of a white girl.

Two justices said their trial was "but a legal gesture to register a verdict already dictated by the press and the public opinion which it generated."

But the majority of seven justices reversed the judgments because Negroes were excluded from the trial jury. Their brief order didn't discuss other issues.

Rape of the 17-year-old girl brought racial violence to little Groveland, Fla., in July, 1949. White mobs attempted a lynching and burned Negro homes. Negroes fled the community. One Negro suspect was killed when he resisted arrest. Troops were called to restore quiet.

HST Doesn't Want To Upset Jap Situation

Washington (AP)—President Truman was reported yesterday to have ruled out any action against Gen. Douglas MacArthur that would affect MacArthur's status as supreme commander in the far east.

The possibility remained that the President might publicly or privately rebuke the general for his open split with the administration—and with United Nations policies—over the conduct of the war with the Chinese Communists.

Also yesterday, House Speaker Rayburn said the Russians are building up strength in a variety of places and Senator McMahon (D-Conn.) agreed with Rayburn that the U. S. is in "terrible danger."

MacArthur set off an international uproar, with Mr. Truman in the middle of it, by coming out last week in favor of using Chinese Nationalist forces to open a "second front" against the Reds as a means of relieving pressure on U. N. troops in Korea.

Many Republicans strongly backed the general's stand. But from this country's Allies abroad, there were quick and sharp protests against any spreading of the Korean war. In some foreign quarters, and from a few Democrats at home, there were demands that MacArthur be removed from his command.

An informed congressional official said yesterday, however, that Mr. Truman doesn't want to do anything that might upset the situation in Japan and thereby give the Russians a chance to demand a bigger share in running Japanese affairs.

MacArthur heads the Allied occupation force in Japan as well as the United Nations forces fighting in Korea. Russia is one of the Japanese occupation powers. MacArthur has been running Japan so far without taking much advice from the Russians.

MacArthur was named United Nations commander by action of the Security Council last July 7 when Russia was boycotting the U. N. deliberations on Korea. The Security Council asked President Truman in a resolution to name a U. N. commander and he did so by appointing MacArthur on May 8, 1950.

While the MacArthur controversy sizzled, Speaker Rayburn told reporters: "I know that we are in terrible danger because the Russians are concentrating here and there and everywhere."

The Texas Democrat made the statement a few minutes after he and other party leaders in Congress met with the President at the White House.

Rayburn said it was "a little beyond my field" to say where Russian troop concentrations are taking place.

"But I have it on good authority—the best authority," he declared. Senator McMahon, chairman of the Joint Congressional Committee on Atomic Energy, said he agreed with Rayburn on the grave danger.

McMahon, who also called on the President, told reporters he thought the danger had increased in recent months and would continue to increase as the Russians make further progress with their atomic energy program.

Congress leaders who attended yesterday's White House meeting said MacArthur's latest pronouncement was discussed, but only briefly.

The White House itself maintained a rigid silence. "I have no comment to make on the MacArthur situation," Presidential Press Secretary Joseph Short told inquiring reporters.

Short also was asked about London reports that the U. S. and Britain are planning a new declaration of policy on Korea.

"I can find no such project in the works," he replied.

The French Foreign ministry confirmed, meanwhile, that France has lined up with Great Britain in opposing MacArthur's second front proposal.

Rep. Van Zandt (R-Pa.) is drafting a House resolution telling the President he should order MacArthur home to report personally on the Far East.

Rewrite UMT Section

Washington, (AP)—Members of the House Armed Services committee rewrote the universal military training section of their draft bill yesterday in an effort to ease its passage through the House.

John H. Ware Appointed To Gas Council

John H. Ware, 3rd, Oxford, Pa., chairman of the board of the Citizens Gas Co. and 18 affiliated gas utility concerns, has been appointed to the Gas Industry Advisory Council by Secretary of the Interior Oscar L. Chapman.

The council has been formed by the Department of Interior in connection with the responsibilities given to the secretary under the defense production act of 1950.

Mr. Ware spent all of last week in Washington testifying before the Federal Power commission in prosecution of the local company's application to secure natural gas from the Manufacturers Light and Heat Co.

His testimony was also directed at obtaining natural gas service for Bangor Gas Co. and the Pen Argyl Gas Co., two of the affiliates of Mr. Ware's companies.

The cross-country natural gas line of Manufacturers passes close to Bangor and the Citizens Gas Co. territory in the Stroudsburgs.

Locally, the line crosses the Minisink Hills road in Smithfield township not far from the East Stroudsburg borough line on Brown St. extension.

All of the regional companies have on hand the pipe required to make connections.

Charles Widmer Honored At Rites

Funeral services for Charles A. Widmer, for years a barber in the Stroudsburgs region, were held at 2 p. m. yesterday in Dunkelberger & Westbrook funeral home.

Rev. Francis C. Thomas, Stroudsburg Methodist church, officiated. Interment was in Stroudsburg cemetery. Pallbearers were Donald J. Anderson, James A. Somers, Jacob Kintz II, Chauncey D. Schoch, Russell J. Swingle, Harold Albert.

Woman Sells Property On Courtland St.

Edgar N. and Edith S. Peters, of Middle Smithfield township, have purchased a property on the east side of N. Courtland St. in East Stroudsburg, according to a deed placed on file here yesterday at the county court house office of Register and Recorder Floyd Butz.

Title to the dwelling and lot was conveyed to the Peters couple by Alice N. Stalmer, of East Stroudsburg.

In another transfer yesterday, James A. and Edith M. Zacharias, of Polk township, transferred title to a property and tract in Polk to Leon L. and Elsie H. Zacharias, also of Polk township.

Ownership of a Stroud township property on the Analomink-Bartonville road was also changed from Lewis H. Bush, East Stroudsburg, to Lewis H. Bush and Russell I. Bush, East Stroudsburg.

Serfass Elected President Of Stroudsburg Teachers; Tax Study Committee Named

Mahlon R. Serfass, head of the foreign language department of Stroudsburg High school, yesterday was elected president of Stroudsburg Teachers association.

Three other officers of the association were reelected to their posts. They are Gale P. Miner, vice president and chairman of the program committee; James T. Anthony III, secretary; James Hantjia, treasurer.

Samuel O. Wells III, chairman of the group's legislative committee, reported on proposed education bills now before the State Legislature and the effect the proposed income tax will have upon them.

He said unless some sort of tax program is passed, the teachers' legislative program faces almost certain doom.

Teachers asserted they favored adoption of the income tax over a sales tax.

A committee, headed by Mr. Wells, was appointed to study both the local and State tax structure. Serving with him will be Alfred W. Munson, Roger A. Dunning, Mrs. Margaret Smith and Gale P. Miner.

The committee has been empowered to publish the results of their findings.

The association's salary committee, which will continue to be headed by Mr. Serfass, was also empowered to continue its work.

"with equalization of salaries as the main goal."

Teachers again expressed their disappointment in recent action regarding the setting of salaries taken by the board of education.

In a statement released for publication, they expressed their dissatisfaction was "not based upon the money involved, but the principles upon which the salaries were based."

Teachers emphasized a program establishing an equalization of salaries is yet to be gained.

Plans were made to invite Dr. Chester McNeerney, professor of education at Pennsylvania State College, to return to Stroudsburg and talk to a special meeting of teachers, parents and "all citizens interested in the educational advancement of Stroudsburg schools."

Mr. McNeerney spoke to Stroudsburg teachers last Wednesday during an in-service training program meeting.

Top Prizes Won By Dogs

Effort — Astolat kennels here showed seven of their Shetland sheepdogs at the Bethlehem armory Sunday and picked up a number of top awards.

Three first prizes were taken by offspring of Champion Frigate's Emblem of Astolat. Pixie won the blue in the three to six month male puppy class while his sister Negra won the honors in the female class of this age. In the six to nine month male puppy class Astolat Red Fox walked off with first.

Pixie and Negra, although shown by Mrs. Constance Hubbard of Astolat kennels, are already sold and will soon go to new homes in New York City and Fairbanks, Alaska.

Other ribbons won by the Hubbards' "Shelties" were third in the three to six month female puppies with Gay; fourth in the six to nine month puppy with Astolat Lucky Libby and second with Astolat.

The group also voted to send Mr. Miner as its representative to the annual Pennsylvania State Education association workshop in Chambersburg, Pa., August 20-24.

Coolbaugh Planning

Supervisors of Coolbaugh Township recently took a long and very wise step when they retained a noted municipal planning consultant to take over the vital task of planning and zoning their community to meet the impact of the 5,000-employee, $30,000,000 Signal Corp Depot installation in their region.

The consultant will develop, after careful analysis into existing conditions and potentials of the future, a sound municipal plan complete with streets, parks, residential and business zoning, recreational facilities, etc.

No haphazard boom-town development will occur in Tobyhanna or Coolbaugh Township.

Not only the immediate Coolbaugh Township community will figure in the studies, findings and recommendations of the consultant, but the regional aspects of municipal development will be considered.

As Rep. Francis E. Walter (D) 20th District said after an inspection of the Signal Corps Depot site: "Some day the City of Tobyhanna will be sending its football team off the mountain to play the teams in Stroudsburg."

That prophetic statement could be founded more in fact than fancy. Especially since Coolbaugh Township supervisors have very smartly decided to move only according to expert municipal planning.

Too Many Chances

Social Legislation previously pointed out the merits of Senate Bill 104, and urged its support as a forward-looking measure for dealing with sex offenders whose crimes have been of such serious concern to Pennsylvanians in all parts of the State.

This bill, was viewed as a constructive proposal providing for the permanent segregation from society, offenders of this class who could not be helped, and for the treatment of those who could be assisted to a better life. We regret that damaging amendments have been introduced which we believe would destroy the effect of this legislation. These amendments provide that a man imprisoned for an indeterminate period under the provisions of this act, would have three opportunities for release. He could appeal to the Parole Board. If the Parole Board turns him down, he can appeal to the courts or he may choose to appeal to the courts directly in the first place. This would give these offenders, whom the act aims to deal with as special problems, an opportunity for release from prison which no other inmates would have.

Other prison inmates are released only by appeal to the Parole Board, a Board which has done a good job in the State of Pennsylvania. It would work havoc with the Board to have a special class of prisoners created who could take their requests for release elsewhere at choice. It would burden the courts who have no facilities or opportunity for knowing the prisoner after years have elapsed, and would be destructive of the original intention of the measure proposed.

These amendments should be removed or so framed that they will serve to safeguard the civil rights of the prisoner but not defeat or block the work of the Parole Board.

Eighty per cent of all the money spent for food in the United States is spent by women.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cert

Paul Talbot offers a little story that should be relayed at once to any Communist that may be left in our midst. It seems that an American labor delegation was visiting the vast Skoda Works in Czechoslovakia. The Americans asked, "Who owns this great factory?" The guide replied proudly, "We, the people, own it. Not only that, but we get all the profits."

Then the Americans noticed three large and luxurious automobiles parked outside the gate and asked who owned them. The guide's face fell a little but he explained, "One is owned by the Commissar of Defense, one by the Chairman of the Workers Committee, and the other by some big-shot from Russia who is down here checking up."

The following summer some of the Skoda labor leaders came to America for a reciprocal visit and were taken to see the Ford plant near Detroit. "Who owns this factory?" the visitors asked. Their host explained, "Mr. Ford does. And he also gets the profits." Then the visitors saw the amazing sight of some 3,000 automobiles parked in large areas around the plant and asked in wonderment, "who owns all those cars?" The American replied with a smile, "We, the employees, own those cars—and furthermore, we can drive them anywhere we wish in the evenings and over our two-day weekends."

Hollywood

By Gene Handsaker

Hollywood—The whirlwind producing-writing team of Wald and Kraska have 63 possible movies mapped out for Alan Ladd. They have 30 story properties that might be suitable for Olivia de Havilland, 15 for Joan Crawford, and six each for Gary Cooper, Errol Flynn and Greta Garbo. "I don't say these stories are all great," said Jerry Wald, a heavy-set ex-newsman, "but when you have a lot to choose from, it's easier."

If Wald and his partner, Norman Kraska, are anything, they are prolific. Most of their movie ideas come from the public prints carefully clipped, filed, and indexed. They have contracted to deliver 12 pictures a year for the next five years. "We'll be sure," said Wald, "We've already done all the dirty work for the first year, getting the scripts ready." With 14 scripts completed, they are now working on projects coming up more than a year from now.

Wald's office at RKO is one floor above the busy street it overlooks. It's furnished in early-American style. He's there from 8:30 a. m. to 6:30 p. m. and has a sandwich and glass of milk brought in for lunch. He reads till midnight or after at his Beverly Hills home, where also reside his wife, two sons, two dogs, two birds, and two rabbits. Partner Kraska says of Jerry, "He does a little more than anyone can do comfortably."

Kraska's office is down the hall. They confer frequently. Should they shoot their cowpoke story in Texas or nearby Newhall? (Which is cheaper? Which offers greater production values? How about getting Jean Simmons for a picture? Look over these song lyrics, will you, Jerry? Kraska is baldish and pink-cheeked. The partners met years ago when Kraska was drama editor and Wald radio editor of the late New York Evening Graphic.

They both believe the story's the thing in movie-making. Jerry said: "Material is the most important thing in our lives. When you read a lot of junk, the good things come to the surface quickly. No star ever made a bad story good, but the story makes a star. Movies' greatest need today is good writing—men who know their craft." He added: "Follow the leader is a dangerous game that too many people play. With 'All About Eve' gone, everybody wants to do a theater story. This is the time not to do a theater story. A carbon copy never reads as well as the original."

These Days — By George E. Sokolsky

The IPR Saga
In connection with the forthcoming investigation by the McCarran Committee, I have been recounting the history of Pacific Relations, which is a central point of any studies made of the Asiatic Policy of the United States. The IPR, has, since its organization (1925), been a great factor not only in determining Far Eastern policy but in the training and selection of personnel.

In previous articles, I have discussed the origin and changes in this organization. Now, we come to the biennial conference held at Banff, Canada, August 14-26, 1933.

It was at this meeting that the American group appeared in full control, E. C. Carter, the secretary of the American council, becoming Secretary-General of the International Organization.

The Russians were absent at Banff and the reason officially given was:

"... but lack of recognition of the Soviet government by the governments of Canada and the United States, and passport regulations that fall short of accord-

Washington Report

By Fulton Lewis Jr.

Washington—Now that we are sparring around in the preliminary stages of a war with Russia, Representative Robert B. Chipperfield, Illinois Republican, thought it was a good idea to figure out just how Russia got strong enough to challenge us.

The Illinois Republican figures that Russia took such a pasting from Germany during World War II that only by extensive outside help could she be ready for another war. Russia got the help, all right, and most of it was from the U. S., the congressman says in the April issue of Reader's Digest.

Chipperfield balances the books on U. S.-Soviet mutual aid this way: Eleven billion lend-lease; two billion to Russia via the UN relief and rehabilitation administration; two and one-half billion in raw materials and tools supplied by Marshall plan countries, which came from the U. S. in violation of Marshall plan agreements.

It was not until December, 1950, the congressman points out, that the state department got around to plugging the Marshall Plan leaks to the Soviet Union. This is not meant to imply that the state department was not aware long before this that the illegal pipeline to Russia was full. The only conclusion is that the state department wanted it that way.

Russia, of course, got vast quantities of industrial equipment from Germany and China, all turned over to her by the boneheads running American foreign policy after the year 1945. Naturally, in Germany, the bright economic planners who are spending our tax dollars immediately set about rebuilding all the plants and machines that were dismantled and sent to Russia. In China, if the Communists had shown little patience and stayed out of the Korean war, it is a virtual certainty that the state department and the economic planners would have found a way to replace all the stuff Russia stole there.

Right now President Truman is hearing the drums about the need for rearming against the Russian threat. Secretary of State Acheson looks brave and noble as he faces the Soviet hordes. Presidential adviser W. Averell Harriman is a bulwark of blustering confidence against the onrush of Russian armed might.

What the boys ought to do is retire to the back room. In November, 1947, President Truman said he saw no reason to halt shipments of industrial equipment to Soviet Russia. Yet in fact, he gave a green light that year to shipments to Russia from the U. S. amounting to $432,000,000.

Harriman, roving ambassador under the Marshall Plan, in 1948 told Congress that he would have nothing to do with an embargo of goods to iron curtain countries. Acheson, who wants to run everything, including Gen. Douglas MacArthur's military campaign in Korea, sat stern and impeccable during 1950 while Italy shipped $26,897,000 worth of Marshall Plan goods to iron curtain countries: France, $18,694,000; and Belgium, $19,603,000. The British, doing what comes naturally, handed over $42,532,000 worth of war machinery to Russia and her satellites during the same year.

All of these transactions took place during the time when U. S. officials, from the president on down, were beating their breasts about what bad boys there are in the Soviet politburo. We were told that for all intents and purposes we were at war with Russia. Winston Churchill labeled it the "cold war" period, but British forces kept pouring out some pretty hot stuff for the foe.

So long as we keep such geniuses at work as those who are now running the country, we can expect little else. With all the intelligence services of the free world at their disposal, no one in or close to the White House has ing visitors from the Soviet Union complete equality with representatives of other countries, prevented this proffered co-operation from materializing. The Pacific Council, in taking cognizance of this situation, not only expressed deep regret but determined to make sure that the time and place for the next conference, in 1935, should be chosen with the fullest regard for the wishes of this important member group."

Considerable concern was expressed over the absence of the Russians and the preface to the 1933 report says:

"... indeed, some of the questions for discussion drafted months earlier almost seemed designed to draw out issues in which the U. S. S. R. is especially interested: as, for example, those relating to the effect of national economic policies on international conflict—specifically those relating to trade expansion—to the industrialization of new areas, and the quest for underlying causes and motives of such policies. Government monopolies, the effect of 'anti-dumping' laws, embargoes, controls over the export of capital, and other subjects of that nature were discussed in some instances with illustrations directly relating to conflicts between the Union and other powers with interests in the Pacific.

"Towards the end of the economic discussions, questions came up concerning the efficacy of methods tried by different governments in adjusting their internal machinery of economic controls to the international situation; and here again the lack of first-hand evidence from the Soviet Republics distinctly limited the discussion, although a few members, such as Colonel Hugh Cooper, an American engineer with long experience in Russia, were relatively well informed. In one of the round tables on education, statements were made about Soviet propaganda in neighboring states of the Far East which, in the absence of a Soviet spokesman, remained unchallenged though to some they seemed to be contrary to the known policies of the Soviet Union.

"That these difficulties due to the absence of one of the most important groups in the institute were realized by many of the members appears also from the discussions of the International programme committee which, in planning for the main theme of the 1935 conference, placed in the forefront of its considerations the widely felt need for a full presentation of the economic and social policies of the Soviet Union, with the philosophy and concrete objectives at the back of them."

It was decided to call the 1935 conference at a place where the Russians would be welcome. It was, however, known in August, 1933, that the Roosevelt administration intended to recognize Soviet Russia. This was achieved in November, 1933.

Jerome D. Greene, who had been chairman of the American Council, had resigned and Newton D. Baker, former Secretary of War, had taken his place. Among those who were on the American group at Banff were: Philip Jessup, B. H. Kizer, Owen Lattimore, and Henry R. Luce. The secretaries of the American group were:

Joseph Barnes, Miss Caroline Corbett, Mrs. F. V. Field, T. J. Krepis, Miss Harriet Moore, Lawrence S. Rockefeller, Miss Caroline Thompson, Grover Clark, Miss E. Fabian, Miss Nan Y. Hewitt, Miss Kate Mitchell, Miss Carol Riegleman, Mrs. Maude W. Stewart, Miss Charlotte Tyler. Frederick Vanderbilt Field, who was at this time one of the most effective men in the organization was swiftly moving from a Norman Thomas Socialist to a Communist, does not appear as an officer, but merely as a member of the conference staff.

Looking at Life

By Erich Brandeis

Brandeis

Just so that there may be no misunderstanding among my readers, I want to put myself on record: I am against sin.

In that respect I fully agree with the late Calvin Coolidge.

But there is something I hate even more than sin. That is hypocrisy.

We have police to watch for and catch burglars.

But we have no police to catch hypocrites.

We have courts to try embezzlers.

We have prisons to which to send them.

But we have no courts, no prisons for hypocrites.

The hypocrite usually wears a shining halo of goodness and godliness. He proclaims his righteousness at all times.

The German word for "hypocritical" is very fitting. It is "scheinheilig"—"sham-holy" in free translation.

Let me give you an instance of this "sham-holiness"—taken from current happenings in my own State, Connecticut.

Some time ago raffish and all kinds of games of chance were declared illegal by the Connecticut Legislature.

These games, often crooked, were going on all over the State at bazars given as "benefits" by various fraternal groups, volunteer firemen's organizations and others.

The gambling concessions were usually given to out-of-state "professionals" who went from town to town and state to state and, as a rule, got more out of these "benefits" than the beneficiaries.

Now there is a big fight about restoring the legality of the gambling.

The proponents claim that without games of chance their "benefits" are flops, and thus maintain that roulette wheels, illegal in Frank Costello's joints, are highly moral when played for "charity."

The opponents, in the words of a former Chief Justice of Connecticut's State Supreme Court, say that "one of the greatest vices inherent in the proposal lies in placing before the young people that insidious thing of getting something for nothing. Professional gamblers are sitting on the sidelines waiting for the legislation to be enacted."

I have gone to several of these bazars where there were roulette wheels and gambling. I have seen kids of twelve and fifteen spin the wheels with glee and enthusiasm—thus getting splendid practice and an appetite for gambling.

Whether you want your children to be gamblers or not is none of my business.

But don't let anybody tell me in "sham-holy" hypocrisy that what is a sin in one place is "charity" in another.

Don't let anybody tell you that we American people have sunk to such low levels that we cannot obey the basic teachings of Christ about charity without spinning roulette wheels.

The operators of those wheels and other gambling devices are thieves—and thieves are had enough. But those who advocate them in the name of "benefits" are hypocrites.

And the hypocrite, in the words of St. Matthew, "shall receive the greatest damnation."

CUTIES

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Grand Opera By Outdoor Aerial

Grand opera is headed for mass consumption via the video. The time is near when you will not be putting on airs if you hum a tune from Tannhauser and can tell for certain whether "Caro Nome" is from Rigoletto or Guys and Dolls. Rudolf Bing is arranging with TV to make Wagner as popular as Godfrey and perhaps get Verdi into a photo finish with Kulkla, Fran and Ollie. The American living room is to become a colossal Diamond Horseshoe. It may soon be easy for a non-society mother to smoke a cigar between the acts and for the common man to stand on his head in an intermission.

Opera is to be telecast by the complete TV technique, with its own stage, scenic effects, scripts, etc. If he is to score on the video screen, a tenor must get as fair a chance as a baseball pitcher, a wrestler or a roller derby contestant. We look for a Carmen with an especially long neckline, an Isolde with perfect legs and a Madam Butterfly, whose lips enlarged 1,000 times will suit the living-room trade.

Swell! The common man is as much entitled as the rich man to be puzzled over what grand opera is all about. It is really a share-the-shrieks movement. It will bring the yawn within the reach of all.

Some new routines will be necessary, of course. The puppet with a Milan background, the dragon that has everything Caruso had, and perhaps a ventriloquist's dummy discovered by Schumann-Heink are possibilities on your television screen. And we anticipate a terrific hit by the first tenor to sing Pagliacci in a ten-gallon hat and change his first name to Hopalong. Tristram with a seltzer bottle is something we wanna see. We have a few hot ideas for Mr. Bing if he expects grand opera to wow the video audience. First of all there will have to be a Barber of Seville who whistles through his teeth, lets his pants fall off whenever the scrip needs more laughs and doesn't object to a trained dog act in the show somewhere.

Our idea, wishing for something sure-fire, would be to have an opera preceded by a master of ceremonies and a male quartette singing:

I change the oil, I check the brakes.

I give the motor what it takes; I put two quarts of water in... It all comes with the Lohen-grin!

Nobody on video has the audience of Milton Berle. Grand opera would do well to study him. The toreador in Carmen might establish himself swiftly by immediately declaring, "I feel fine... I really do... I hope my mother is out there tonight." Nobody can tell us that opera wouldn't be helped by an introduction, "And now, folks, that truly wonderful personality, that really talented star, that wonderful celebrity who is tops in his line, Giuseppe Verdi! Give the little boy a big hand."

Only one thing really worries us. Should the icebox commercial come before the toreador's song or after?

One of the country's most publicized figures in the mobster exposures announced the other day that he had bought into a chain of drugstores and would take an active part. The idea fascinates us. We have often complained of the lack of dice while waiting for a banana split. Shudda Haddim is never so outraged as when he has to wait for a prescription to be filled, with no racing returns. Ever so many people would like a roulette wheel between the hair tonic and lunch counters.

A Washington bureau thinks steak should be classified as a luxury, and a luxury tax imposed. Why not? We know a fellow who boasts that he just bought his wife a coat of semi-precious steer.

If we ever have a unionized police force we will, of course, encounter the man who will refuse to be arrested by anybody but a union cop.

It is now possible to make clothing from sand. We trust Mr. DiSala will swiftly put a ceiling on dirt.

Vanishing Americanisms

"I'll take the whole ham."

"Put two eggs in that sandwich, mom."

"He doesn't get much money but he dresses well."

"It's awfully dull staying home nights."

"I gave you a quarter for that bus trip; where's the twenty cents change?"

The mahogany tree has been known to Europeans since about 1500, shortly after the discovery of America.

Reader suggests elderberry and peppermint to get rid of those sniffles. Sounds suspiciously like a cure-all cocktail.

Hotel Display Opens Today At Manor

All Resort Operators May Attend

Pocono Manor — Pocono Mountains Vacation Bureau's second annual hotel show featuring a colorful array of 91 booths set up by purveyors to hotels and restaurants in this region opens at 11 a. m. today in connection with the second session of resort section of Pennsylvania Hotel association.

Every taproom, tavern, restaurant and hotel operator in Monroe, Pike, Wayne, Northampton, Carbon, Luzerne, Lackawanna and other regional counties is invited to attend the hotel display which will be open to public inspection the next two days at Pocono Manor Inn.

Everything from floor coverings to food used in hotel, restaurant and tavern operations will be set up in colorful booths. Many of the latest gadgets and designs of hotel equipment will be making their debut at the show.

Annual meeting and luncheon of Pocono Mountains Vacation Bureau will be held at noon Wednesday with the annual dinner for members and their ladies Wednesday night. Both of these meetings will be held at Pocono Manor Inn.

Yesterday, Pennsylvania Hotel association members, representing about 60 resort establishments throughout Pennsylvania, were welcomed at opening sessions in the Inn at Buck Hill Falls by Edward C. Jenkins, president of Vacation Bureau, and Clifford R. Gilliam, president of Buck Hill Falls Co. and immediate past president of resort section of American Hotel association.

Speakers at opening session dealt with legislative, tax and other fiscal matters. They included J. W. Cole, president of PHA; J. A. Johnston, chairman legislation and Paul C. Mooney, director interstate tax bureau.

Irvin Shinnen, operator of Onawa lodge, was host to PHA members at luncheon. An afternoon panel held there yesterday featured discussions on hotel training and personnel problems by Esther A. Atkinson, State College hotel school; R. T. Stoner, Department of Public Instruction; Howard V. Meeker, Cornell hotel school.

A travel session panel was held yesterday afternoon. Reception was held for members at Skytop last night. Another panel on resort advertising will be held this morning at Pocono Manor.

Grand Jury Returns True Bills Against Five On Charge Involving East Stroudsburg Girl

Easton — Northampton county's April term grand jury late yesterday returned a true bill against four young men from Philadelphia and an East Stroudsburg juvenile, all of whom are charged with common law rape by Pennsylvania State police of the Bethlehem barracks.

The case was added to the court's criminal trial list immediately, and it is expected that the trial will commence at 9:30 a. m. Thursday.

In addition to the East Stroudsburg juvenile, whose case has been certified to the court of quarter sessions, the defendants are Joseph Rafter, Joseph Jones and Thomas Sines, each 23 years of age, and Peter Critikos, 22.

Rafter and Critikos were students at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College.

The charges against the five followed an intensive investigation

by State police, after the parents of a 16-year-old East Stroudsburg girl filed a complaint with Officers Edward M. Harlowe and Donald J. Quick, of East Stroudsburg.

The case was turned over to Northampton county authorities, however, after it was ascertained that the alleged offenses, upon which the complaint was based, had occurred not in Monroe county but near Stateford in Northampton county.

Assistant District Attorney Elias Spengler, of Bath, who will prosecute for the Commonwealth, said last night that all five defendants were charged with common law rape in the indictment which went to the grand jury.

He added, however, that the parts played by Critikos and the juvenile in the alleged offense would make them appear as ac-

Physiotherapy Room Sought For Hospital

The Monroe County Crippled Children's association met last night to take stock of assets and to launch plans to use those assets for the benefits of Monroe county's crippled children and adults.

With Alexander Bensinger, vice president, presiding, a committee was appointed to confer with the board of the General hospital at its next meeting to consider possibility of a physiotherapy room at the hospital.

Dr. Harold Pond discussed with the group treatment of cerebral palsy in children and adults and a committee was appointed to visit the Bethlehem clinic.

The local diagnostic clinic will be held in the state clinic rooms, Sarah St., on Monday, April 16.

Proceeds from this year's Easter seal campaign amount to about $1800 at present, it was announced.

Present for the meeting were Mrs. Olaf Pedersen, D. W. Frankendorf, Mrs. William Glebe, Mrs. Bennett Strait, Arthur Helmes, Mrs. Roman Batory, Mrs. John Rumsey, Mrs. John Mott, Mrs. Walter Dreher, Mrs. William Webb, Nelson Westbrook, Mr. Bensinger, and Harry Albert, at whose office the meeting was held.

Chemistry Of Health Theme At Woman's Club Meeting

Dr. Irene Case Namurs, food and nutrition chairman of the New York Federation of Women's clubs, in speaking yesterday at the meeting of the Woman's club said that in her opinion very few of the degenerative diseases, the aches and pains that beset the older years, could not be traced to an improper balance of proteins and alkalines in the diet.

Dr. Namurs, a bio-chemist who has had wide experience both here and abroad, stressed the great differences in the chemistry of individuals, and of their propensity to select from the same food more of the carbon, the protein, and moisture, or the fat according to their chemical and physical makeup.

The problem of too much weight, she said, is to condense the amount of flesh without losing the energy-giving, tissue-building food necessary for health. Too often, she said, people reverse the proportion of two thirds alkaline food to one third starch and protein.

She outlined the fruits and vegetables which provide the chemical elements needed by the body, not only for health but also for changing the starches and proteins into energy rather than excess flesh, and gave a number of combinations of juices which would help correct health conditions.

She was introduced by Mrs. Walter Caulfield, program chairman, and her talk was vigorous and detailed.

Mrs. Eugene Martin, president, presided at the business meeting when Mrs. LeRoy J. Koehler gave the report of the nominating committee which also included Mrs. Howard Eckert and Mrs. Clifford Heller.

The slate of officers which will be voted upon at the May meeting is as follows: President, Mrs. George T. Robinson; first vice president, Mrs. Walter H. Caulfield; second vice president, Mrs. Parke Kunkle; third vice president, Mrs. Leo Dornbos; recording secretary, Mrs. Frank H. French; assistant recording secretary, Mrs. Harold Eaton; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Frank Grimm; treasurer, Mrs. Claude D. Cramer; Directors, Mrs. Eugene H. Martin, Mrs. W. Duhy Palmer and Mrs. Floyd Bachman.

Mrs. Martin named Mrs. Howard Eckert and Mrs. Will Kraemer as an auditing committee, and announced that reservations for the club history booklets must be made with Mrs. W. H. Caulfield by April 14.

Mrs. Martin paid tribute to the late Mrs. C. B. Keller, one of the charter members of the club, who died last week.

Miss Miriam Lark requested the members again to dress dolls for the Salvation Army to use in their Christmas gifts for the children of the county. The club last year dressed and presented 50 dolls for the use of the Salvation Army.

Invitations from the Barrett Woman's club to attend their program on Floral Arrangement on April 13, and from the Monroe County Federation to its spring convention on April 19, both to be held at the Inn at Buck Hill Falls, were announced. Mrs. J. E. Arnold, program chairman for the county meeting, announced details of the program.

Mrs. Martin, in reporting on the state recommendation urging greater efforts toward mental health of children, called attention to the newly-established Monroe-Northampton Child Guidance clinic.

Following the meeting, refreshments were served with Mrs. LeRoy Mikels and Mrs. Merle C. Ostrom presiding at the tea table, sunny with yellow candles and daffodils in a blue cornucopia. Mrs. Fred L. Scheller and Mrs. Edward S. Stevens were co-hostesses with Mrs. Mikels. Also on the committee were Mrs. Harvey Blair, Mrs. Harold Eaton, Mrs. George Goll, and Mrs. Harry Hintze.

During the social hour, members inspected the art exhibit arranged by Mrs. Elwood Grant which contained an ink well over 100 years old, a hammered silver tea strainer and a handkerchief from France, displayed by Mrs. Irving Kiffin, and a tea set and majolica dish from Italy, the property of Mrs. Sadie French.

Church Offices To Be Filled At Congregation

A special congregational meeting has been called by the session of the First Presbyterian church of Stroudsburg for Wednesday night, April 11, at 7 in the church school auditorium. The congregation recently voted to increase membership on both the session and the board of deacons from nine to twelve members.

At the meeting on Wednesday night, three new elders will be elected to the session, three new deacons to the board of deacons, and the proposal to form a board of deaconesses will be voted upon.

The congregational meeting will be preceded by the family night supper at 6:15. Reservations for the supper should be made by noon today.

Foster Minnich To Speak To GOP Council

Foster Minnich will be the guest speaker at the meeting of the Monroe County Council of Republican Women at their meeting on Wednesday afternoon at 2:30. His topic will be "What Will Your Benefits Be Under Social Security?"

He will explain coordinating life insurance and social security as well as survivor and retirement benefits.

There will also be the showing of a film on cancer. Mrs. Clifford Heller is the program chairman for the April meeting, and Mrs. Rodger Kimball is chairman of the hostess committee which also includes Mrs. Ralph Speiser, Mrs. Guy Dean III, Mrs. Carl Wagner, Mrs. Russell Scheller and Mrs. John Lanterman.

State Officers To Attend District Meet

A district meeting of all camps of the Patriotic Order of Americans will be held at Saylorburg camp rooms on Thursday, April 12, when the state president, Mrs. Edna Mulholland, the state officer Kay Raynor, and other officials will be guests.

Mrs. Pearl Towsley, president of the district, announced that a school of instruction will be held at the district meeting. At this time two district officers will be elected for the ensuing two years.

Mrs. Mulholland also is planning to attend the anniversary banquet of Stroudsburg camp 289 on April 19. Members planning to attend the banquet, which will be held at Biggs Restaurant, have been asked to make reservations with Miss Flora Garis, Mrs. Jeanette Harris, Mrs. Ethel Gordon or Mrs. Stella Butts.

Portland PTA To Meet On Thursday Night

Portland — The Parent Teachers Association of the Portland school district will meet in the school gymnasium on Thursday night, April 12, at 8. Mrs. Horace Rusling, president, will preside. A representative from the Northampton County Cancer Society will be present and speak. Two films on cancer will be shown after which a question and answer period will follow. A door prize will be awarded as well as an attendance prize. The mothers of the eighth grade will be hostess.

Beverly Hartman Celebrates Her 10th Birthday

Bartonville — The 10th birthday of Beverly Hartman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hartman, was celebrated at the Hartman home Tuesday night, April 3.

Beverly, who is a pupil in the fourth grade at Pocono Township Consolidated school, Tannersville, received many gifts and cards. Refreshments were served.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Lee Hartman, Mrs. Emma Metzger, Donna Lee Hartman, Tommy Field, the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Hartman, and Beverly, the guest of honor.

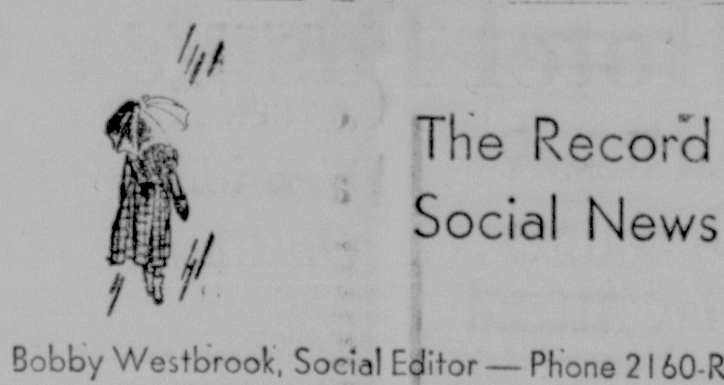

WCS Plans Amateur Show

The Women's Society of Christian Service is planning to hold an amateur show at the Cherry Valley Grange hall on April 22. Anyone wishing to take part is requested to get in touch with Mrs. Edward Dennis or Mrs. Orin Reish.

The WCS is also making a "name" quilt, and anyone wishing to have his name on a block may call Mrs. Orin Reish. Proceeds will be used for repairing the church.

Public Invited To Fashion Show At College Today

The big spring fashion show, sponsored by the Woman's Recreation association at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College, will be held tonight at the college auditorium at 8 p. m.

Open to the public without charge, the fashion show will present spring and summer highlights from eleven local stores, using more than 28 models from the college student body.

There will also be vocal and instrumental music during the intermission featuring Miss Vivian Amhurst, vocalist, and Miss Jenene Zugel, pianist, both of whom are Stroudsburg girls.

Cootiettes Ward Party For Patients

The Pocono Cootiettes have a new conception of life in a veterans' hospital after their visit to the new Wilkes-Barre Veterans' hospital where they gave a ward party for the servicemen on Sunday night.

A bus-load of 32 members made the trip, taking with them gifts, arranged by the welfare chairman, Mrs. Georgia Albertson, and entertainment for the patients.

From the solid glass doors, through the sound-proofed rooms, the chapel and the recreational room where they held their program, the members found the modern hospital, set high on a hill, a thrilling experience.

Jack Jennings, driver of the bus, was pressed into service as a soloist. Dorothy Albertson, drum major of the Legion Band, gave a twirling exhibition in costume, and Mrs. Stella Metzger, pianist, contributed to the program.

Four members of the Cootiettes gave a pantomime. Betty Dietrick, Betty Epright, Olive Paul and Betty Staples, and one of the patients sang a number of solos.

The entertainment, together with the gifts which the women presented, made a memorable party for both the men and the members of the local lodge.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

With big social stories breaking like firecrackers on an old-fashioned Fourth of July, you had to step lively just to stay out of the way. But nobody was stepping lively yesterday. Everybody lingered in the doorways, reluctant to miss a moment of the soft spring enchantment.

Once inside the Woman's club, however, you stopped begrudging Dr. Namurs certainly could present a technical subject with verve and gusto—and last night everybody was asking "What did she say to drink if you couldn't stand noise?" or "if you felt the cold?" Well, the last one was raw egg yolk and blackberry juice, that I remember. And I think the one about the noise was orange juice and egg yolk, with pineapple and carrot juice for adolescent pimples, and celery and grapefruit juice to forestall hardening of the arteries.

But of course that's the danger of just lifting recipes from their contexts because there was a lot more to it than that. Chemistry, especially, but who could believe you could make chemistry amusing?

But every meeting was full of excitement last night. The East Stroudsburg band mothers were more excited over giving the band its trip to New York than the kids will be, probably; the Ann Logans were talking a mile a minute about the new kitchen and almost forgot what they were sewing on.

The Crippled Children's association was all enthusiastic about a number of new developments. Talk about chemistry—the alchemy of going without coats and having the rain do no more than drip a few drips and of having all the windows opened—somehow combined to make the adrenal glands work overtime. Anyway, everybody was zooming, stepping as high as the kids do when they first take off on their roller skates.

Band Mothers To Finance New York Trip

The members of East Stroudsburg High school's championship band will have a trip to New York this spring as the guests of the Band Mothers of the school who raised enough money to finance the trip.

Decision to sponsor the trip was made last night at the meeting of the Band Mothers at the high school with Mrs. Robert Hartman presiding. The group decided to put the rest of the money they had raised into a fund to be saved against the time when new uniforms will be needed.

A vote of appreciation was given to Mrs. John Anderson, chairman of the finance committee, which planned the projects for the year. Clement Wiedmyer, band director, expressed his appreciation to the group for their backing. He was presented with a cookie jar full of cookies.

A nominating committee consisting of Mrs. W. G. Moore, Mrs. Clifford Lambert and Mrs. Pearl Werkheiser was named to report at the May meeting.

The May meeting will feature the annual Mother's day program with the band to play for the mothers, and the mothers in turn to treat the band.

Mrs. Helen Groskoff, Mrs. Austin Fisher, Mrs. Earl Metzger, Mrs. Janet Smith, Mrs. Leonard Sadler, Mrs. Harold Stanlake, Mrs. Eugene Shafer, Mrs. Arthur Gordon and Mrs. Ralph Lesonsie will form the committee in charge.

Further plans for the commemorative booklet and dance to be sponsored by the Ann Logan and Barrett auxiliaries in connection with the opening of the new hospital wing were also discussed.

Following the business meeting, the members worked on supplies for the hospital and refreshments were served by Mrs. Howard R. Flagler Jr., and Mrs. James Gavin.

Girls' Guild Of Zion Church To Be Hostesses

Plans were made at the monthly meeting of the Girls Guild of the Zion Reformed church on Wednesday night to entertain the mothers of the members and also the Girls Guild of Stone Church and their mothers on May 9.

It was decided to hold a cake sale at a date to be fixed later. A new project will be the selling of fancy napkins.

In order to encourage the obtaining of new members, a membership campaign was begun, two teams being formed for the purpose.

The June meeting will be in charge of Mrs. Marion Monahan when the Women's Guild will be entertained.

Engagement Announced

Bushkill — Mrs. Edna Brodhead Heller, of Wheat Plains farm, Bushkill, announces the engagement of her daughter, Margaretta Brodhead, to Richard J. Jaggers, of Dingmans Ferry.

No date has been announced for the wedding.

Ministerium To Convene At Neffs Today

The 151st annual convention of the Allentown conference of the Evangelical Lutheran Ministerium of Pennsylvania and Adjacent States will be held today and tomorrow at the Lutheran church at Neffs, Lehigh county, Rev. Willard G. Weida, pastor. The following congregations from this area will be represented: St. John's, Stroudsburg, by the pastor and Evan S. Kintz and Martin A. Vogt; Grace church, East Stroudsburg; St. Mark's, Minisink Hills; Zion, Smithfield, Bangor and East Bangor and the Mt. Bethel Parish.

The opening session will begin at 10 a.m. at which time the Sacrament of Holy Communion will be administered by the officers and the conference sermon will be preached by Rev. Ralph L. Alderfer of the Forks-and-Trees parish, near Easton. At the afternoon session Rev. C. E. Neudorff will present his report with recommendations, as will the other officers. Reports of 14 committees will be presented and greetings will be given by Rev. Dr. E. E. Fischer, president of the Ministerium of Pennsylvania Representatives from Muhlenberg College, the Lutheran Theological Seminary and the Motherhouse of Deaconesses will make reports.

Tonight the Conference Brotherhood will have charge of the service at which time Harold F. Krause, president of the North Carolina synod will deliver the address. Several machine loads of Brotherhood men from St. John's will attend this meeting.

On Wednesday at 9:30 a.m. a service of commemoration will be conducted by Rev. Paul F. Spieker of Emmaus. A paper on the subject "Religion, Modern Science and Preaching the Gospel Today" will be presented by Dr. Hagen A. K. Stack. The sessions will close in the afternoon when several other reports will be given and new business transacted. The following local people are members of committees: Dr. P. N. Wohlsein, inner missions, publicity, Christian higher education, conference history and papers and program; Rev. W. F. Wunder, stewardship committee and Judge C. H. Rhodes and H. L. Keiper on Christian higher education and Arthur Kitzman on brotherhoods.

POS Of A To Conduct Essay Contest In High Schools

Patriotic Order Sons of America camps in the Monroe county area are sponsoring a High school essay contest among the schools of the county. It was announced yesterday.

Total of $170 in prizes is offered to a group of students who write the best 400 to 500-word compositions on "What America Means to Me."

John C. Litts, county superintendent of schools, and Walter H. Sebring, assistant superintendent, said yesterday that contests at the respective High schools are now under way. Each school's first place essay will be forwarded to the county education office on or before April 27 for final county-wide judging, they said.

A committee of three, to be selected from prominent lay and professional persons, will select four of the eight submitted for county-wide prizes. First prize will be $20, second will be $15; third, $10, and fourth, $5.

In addition, the winning essays at each school will be given a $10 first place prize after the judging by the high school principal and a faculty committee. Second-place winners at each school will receive a $5 prize, although these will not be forwarded for county level judging.

Both school and county level prizes will be awarded during the graduation or award day programs at the respective schools, the superintendent explained.

The presentations will be made by a representative of the POS of A camp nearest to the school at which the award or awards will be made, they said.

Eight camps are sponsoring the essay contest. They include the seven situated within Monroe county and the Bushkill camp at the Pike county line.

Pension Law Covers Home, Farm Labor

Joseph T. McDonald, collector of internal revenue, yesterday reminded farm and household employers in this region that they must report wages and pay Federal social security taxes on those farm and household employees who were brought into the old age and survivors insurance system Jan. 1, 1951.

Whether a farm or household employee's wages are subject to the taxes depends on the number of days worked for the employer and the amount of cash earnings.

The Federal social security tax and information return for the quarterly period of January-February-March is due on or before April 30, 1951, together with payment of the taxes.

The farmer makes a return reporting cash wages paid to each employee who meets all three of these tests: He was employed continuously throughout the quarterly period October, November, December, 1950, and he was employed in agricultural labor on a full-time basis for at least 60 days in quarterly period beginning January, 1951, and his cash earnings are $50 or more. Same test applies to household workers on a full-time basis.

A different test applies to household workers in homes other than farms operated for profit. Returns must be made for an employee who earned $50 or more during the quarter beginning January, 1951 and who performed such duties on 24 or more different days in that quarter or 24 different days in the quarter starting October, 1950.

servicemen recently published in this column include: Pvt. Carlyle Schmalz, U. S. 52110271, 873rd T. Port Company, 11th T. Port Battalion, Camp Eustis, Virginia; Pvt. Peter Yarmosh, U. Don't Be Satisfied With Symptomatic Relief

YES, HADACOL MAKES IT POSSIBLE TO RELIEVE THE CAUSE OF

Aches and Pains, Stomach Distress, Weak, Run-down Conditions and Nervousness When Due To Lack of Vitamins B₁, B₂, Niacin and Iron In Your System

Mrs. A. Plonka of 3202 S. Abbeville, Chicago, Ill.: "My daughter Carmelita, who is 10 years old and in the fifth grade, had always been underweight and I had to positively force her to eat. She had no interest in food whatsoever, but I knew that she had to eat. When we were visiting my mother in Missouri over the Christmas holidays she suggested I give Carmelita HADACOL. I bought a large bottle of it that same day and was amazed at the change in Carmelita. Her appetite picked right up and she now eats three hearty meals a day plus in-between snacks. I have really praised HADACOL, and highly recommend it."

G. E. Moncus, 221 Columbus St., Montgomery, Ala.: "Quite some time ago I began to have indigestion and sour stomach. My food just didn't digest right. I'd get a full, 'gassy' feeling after I ate. This affected my appetite and my weight. I was run-down, too. My wife started taking HADACOL and so did my daughter. I saw how much it had helped them, so I started taking it. And HADACOL has certainly helped me, too. My stomach never bothers me any more. I have a terrific appetite and have gained weight. I have lots of energy and just feel good in every way. I think HADACOL is wonderful. I wish I could tell everyone just how wonderful it really is."

Mrs. W. O. Jones, 7244 N. Bell St., Chicago, Ill.: "I am a housewife and mother of three children. I had been feeling very run-down, would tire so easily, and just felt listless. My mother-in-law suggested I take HADACOL, as she had heard of it through friends of hers. I just took it for a few days, when I noticed I was feeling stronger and seemed to have more energy. I continued taking HADACOL and it has certainly built up my strength. I am no longer run-down, don't tire nearly as much. I am now on my sixth large bottle of HADACOL, and intend to continue taking it."

William J. Dunlap, 4404 Freer St., Apt. 2, Detroit, Mich.: "Along with the pains I suffered my body had a tired, worn-out feeling. I had to force myself to keep going. I read about HADACOL and decided to give it a try. Am now on my fifth bottle and would not be without an ample supply. My first bottle gave me astonishing relief, and at this time of writing I feel better, without a pain or ache. Am a dairy employee, 54 years old. Veteran of two world wars. Active overseas in both. I have given your HADACOL every praise to friends and relatives and know some are using it with just as astonishing results as I myself have found."

Give HADACOL A Chance To Help YOU

If your system lacks these essential elements, you will be amazed at the wonderful results HADACOL can bring you, as it has to thousands of other fine folks who suffered a deficiency of Vitamins B₁, B₂, Niacin and Iron, which HADACOL contains.

HADACOL is that wonderful new preparation—promising blessed relief for your indigestion, stomach disturbances (gas, heartburn, sour "risings" after meals), as well as that general run-down condition, and annoying aches and pains, if due to a lack of Vitamins B₁, B₂, Iron and Niacin in your system. Don't go through life suffering with conditions caused by such deficiencies when relief may be as close at hand as the nearest drugstore for sufferers from these deficiencies. Buy HADACOL today. Trial size bottle only $1.25. Large family economy size, $3.50. Refuse substitutes. There's only one true and genuine HADACOL.

Life of Riley

By JIM RILEY
Sports Editor

Stroudsburg High school's football team may or may not win more than last season's club, but it is certain that the 1951 Mountaineers will cut a fancy figure on the gridiron, as the W. Main St. school just purchased new maroon pants for the next grid campaign. This means that the Stroudsburg grid machine will be maroon from top to bottom and the fact that new pants have been purchased should put to an end the old cry about dressing up the club which has been heard in this area during the past two seasons.

Johnny Hughes, from Mountain Top, scored 480 points in 30 games for Fairview Township High school during the past season, as Coach Doug Schoonover's cagers won 14 and lost 16 contests. Hughes attended the Little League banquet in East Stroudsburg last night, along with his coach, the latter a resident of Stroudsburg and a graduate of Stroudsburg High and East Stroudsburg State Teachers College. Joe Peel, former football mentor at Stroudsburg High, is coaching track and wrestling at Wilkes-Barre Coughlin, but only recently received his recall to the air corps.

Bob Becker, coach of Kingston Township High, number one basketball team in the Back Mountain League during the past season is also a graduate of ESSTC. Kingston Township defeated Harder for the league title in a special playoff, but Fairview included both clubs among its list of victims during the past campaign. Bill Schmidt and Jack McAndrews' presence on the ESSTC tennis team gives Coach Frank Grimm two pretty fair basketball players on his squad. When the word "net" is mentioned, here are two fellows who will be Johnny-on-the-Spot.

The fifth place finish of the Central Labor Union bowling team in the Delaware Valley league this season is the lowest for the East Stroudsburg team since it entered the circuit. However, all have hopes of regaining the number one spot, a position the local aggregation has held almost annually since joining the fast kegling league. Bowling banquets are now in vogue. Applications for the Stroudsburg High basketball coaching position are piling high, but no official action has been taken on any of the documents, at least so I've been told.

Harry Scheffer, pitcher with the Stroudsburg Poconos in 1946 and 1947, hurled three innings against the New York Yankees for Beaumont, of the class "AA" Texas league, on Saturday. Although Beaumont lost, 3-2, Scheffer kept the Yanks away from the plate during his four of duty. Although Pocono A.C. hasn't declared an official practice session as yet, John Drew, Clint Resecker and Don Sveda held their first drill of the season on Sunday.

Chet Krajewski, third baseman with the Poconos last season, blasted a home run and double while holding down the same position for Terra Haute, of the class "B" Three I league, against Hartford, of the class "A" Eastern league, during an exhibition contest at Myrtle Beach, S. C. The double was to deep left field and the circuit blow cleared the distant fence in the same locality.

Krajewski led the North Atlantic league in circuit blows last season, but also set a mark in strikeouts. However, if the likeable young slugger learns to hit a curve and stays clear of bad pitches, Krajewski is definitely major league material, with a rifle-like arm and alert fielding ability. Chet was sold to the Phillies along with Sam Warner and Bill Pope. All three reported to Wilmington, of the Inter-State league, but at least Krajewski was shipped to another club, of equal status, in the Philadelphia farm system.

Doug Holcomb, University of Scranton basketball coach and publicity director, is scheduled to be married in June. Reports making the rounds for the past couple of weeks indicate that the cage mentor is on the verge of launching a radio career. The firing of the Mt. St. Mary's basketball coach the other day, as mentioned on this page yesterday, may have its local implications before the autumn term of school begins. WVPO begins to broadcast the New York Yankees' game today, and will continue to handle action over the Network of Champions throughout the summer months.

George Condrick was the losing pitcher the other day when Allentown took the measure of Winston Salem in an exhibition contest, 8-4. J. C. Dunn, former centerfielder for Lebanon, North Atlantic league held down second base for the losing team, while Frank Porreca, also a former Lebanon star, and Johnny Penczak, formerly of Peekskill, also of the North Atlantic league, played first and third base respectively for Allentown. Condrick pitched for two years with the Poconos.

School Official Praises Work Of Little Leagues

A total of 150 people, half of them youngsters between eight and 12 years of age, heard Walter Sebring, assistant county superintendent of schools, praise baseball to the limit last night at the Little League banquet staged by the Exchange club at the East Stroudsburg Presbyterian church.

Sebring warned that the baseball field is the proving ground of the nation, mentioning the manner in which baseball has helped the people of this country.

The former local diamond star praised the Little League movement and the wonderful job it is doing throughout the county with the growing boys of today.

Sebring told several humorous stories and also several happenings on the baseball fields of this area in past years.

Following Sebring's address the 1951 Little League film was shown to the group.

In Charge

Henry Evans, club president, was in charge of the meeting, while C. A. "Phiz" Nauman introduced the speaker and Gordon Coy announced the film.

Roger Dunning led group singing and guests were introduced following a chicken dinner, prepared by the ladies of the church.

The banquet was held to create interest in the Little League activity for the coming season and the dinner was financed by a three-game all-star series last year, between Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg teams.

All boys from the East Stroudsburg Little League were invited, while members of the Stroudsburg all-star team were also on hand.

Senators End Losing Streak

Winston Salem, N. C. (AP)—Conrado Marrero pitched the Washington Senators out of a five-game losing streak yesterday as he set the Cincinnati Reds down with only two hits for a 2 to 1 victory.

The curve-balling Cuban right-hander gave up a run in the first on two walks, a wild pitch and a long fly and after that the Reds never got a man past first base. Marrero struck out nine.

Good Pitching

Marrero had to be good, though. Ken Raffensberger, veteran Cincinnati southpaw, allowed only five hits in the tight battle. Rookie Gen Verble's double to right center scored Washington's two runs in the seventh and ended a string of 17 consecutive scoreless innings for Raffensberger.

Campanella Paces Brooklyn Attack

Asheville, N. C. (AP)—Roy Campanella hit two long homers and batted in two more runs with an infield hit as the Dodgers came from behind to beat the Asheville Tourists, 9-8, before a record crowd of 6,579 yesterday.

Jackie Robinson, who was banished from the game by umpire Frank Dascoli, and Gil Hodges also connected for the circuit.

Rex Barney started for Brooklyn and walked 11 men before he was derelicted with one out in the third inning.

DiMaggio Ready For Opener

Dallas, (AP)—The Yankee Clipper said yesterday he is ready to start the American league season with full sails.

"Tell the Yankee fans not to worry about me," said Joe DiMaggio, the key player of the world champion New York Yankees. "I will do my part."

Satisfied

The 36-year-old outfielder was very satisfied with his training to date. Sunday he belted his fourth homer and two singles, and yesterday, against the Boston Braves, he got two singles in four trips and knocked in two runs. His Grapefruit league average now is over the .380 mark.

The Yankee Clipper said he thought the pennant race would be a four-way scramble among the Yankees, Boston, Cleveland and Detroit. Naturally, he thought the Yanks would cop.

"We will win again because of our reserve strength," said Joe.

Ladies Bowl Tonight

East Stroudsburg Ladies' league will bowl tonight on the Harmon alleys, at 6:45. Schedule follows:

Alleys one and two—Square Bar vs. Twin County Distributors.

Alleys three and four—Palace Diner vs. Quick's Lounge.

Alleys five and six—Eagles vs. Italian Club.

Late Rally Saves Battle For Chiefs

A terrific last period rush carried Ray's Chiefs into third place in the final standings of the Junior Gold Medal tournament last night, as the Chiefs accounted for a 61-51 victory over Tobyhanna Township High school, on the Monroe County YMCA court.

Both teams battled to an 18-18 deadlock in the first period, but the High school contingent reached the halfway mark on the long end of a 29-27 count, by virtue of an 11-9 advantage during the second period.

It appeared as if TTHS had the game in the bag at the three-quarter mark, holding a 47-41 advantage after dominating the third period, 18-14.

Tom Bonser was the big gun for winning aggregation, racking up 23 points, while Bob Miller, with 14 tallies, was the big gun for TTHS. The final tournament standings featured Twin Boroughs in first place, Warriors second and Ray's Chiefs third.

Cubs Decision Little Rock

Little Rock, Ark. (AP)—The Chicago Cubs, behind the five hit pitching of Omar Lown, defeated the Little Rock Travelers of the Southern association, 6-1, today. It was the Cubs' sixteenth baseball exhibition win against nine losses.

Space Hits

Lown, 27-year-old rookie from Montreal, spaced the five hits over eight innings. Bob Kelly pitched the ninth for the Chicagoans.

The Cubs made four of the runs off "Dutch" McCall, former Cub lefty—one on Hal Jeffcoat's theft of home in the fourth inning and three on Hank Sauer's number eight homer in the fifth.

Pirates' Official Marries

Washington (AP)—J. Fred Herling, baseball farm club executive for the Pittsburgh Pirates, was married to Margaret G. Mathieson of Washington yesterday in a small private ceremony.

Help

All interested parties are asked to help fix the field for the coming campaign tonight, with the work beginning at 5. The infield must be repaired so that it can be rolled before the weekend.

The usual business was transacted at last night's meeting, with a special gathering scheduled for Monday, April 30.

President Victor Saveri was in charge of last night's meeting.

Chisox Run Wild

Chattanooga, Tenn. (AP)—The Chicago White Sox clubbed the team of their old manager, Jack Onslow, for a 15-4 decision before 1,018 fans yesterday. The rout of the Chattanooga Lookouts marked the Pale Hose' twenty-first win in 28 exhibition starts.

Diamond Expert Picks Yanks To Repeat In American Loop

New York, (AP)—For the past four years the Boston Red Sox were the team to beat for the American league flag. And that's what happened—they got beat.

This year is no exception. The power-laden Red Sox, perennial March champions, again shape up as the team to beat. And they probably will get beat again.

Who will beat them this time? Why, the club that has done it three of the four years—the world champion New York Yankees.

Yes, it looks to this writer as if the Bronx Bombers will win their third straight pennant.

The Red Soxers, because of their almost unbeatable habits at home and their marked improvement in pitching, should live up to their name as the best second place team in baseball history.

Cleveland's vastly improved Indians, boasting perhaps the best hurling corps in the circuit, should move up a notch to third. Chicago's young, hustling White Sox can prove the "sleeper" club and slip into the first division ahead of the diluted Detroit Tigers.

Washington easily is the best of the rest with St. Louis and Philadelphia holding up the rear.

This may be the order of the finish:

One—New York. Two—Boston, three—Cleveland. Four—Chicago. Five—Detroit. Six—Washington. Seven—St. Louis and Eight—Philadelphia.

It's foolhardy to bet against the Yankees when the chips are down. Even those critics who have called them "lucky" cannot deny that, they somehow manage to win the big ones, never fold in the clutch.

Spirit

Call it luck if you will, but the Yankees also have with it the spirit, savvy, hustle, will to win, and most important, a bunch of darn good ball players. Where can there be found better players at their respective positions than Phil Rizzuto, Joe DiMaggio, "Yogi" Berra and Gerry Coleman? That doesn't take in outfielder Hank Bauer, who is one of the coming stars of baseball. And in Vic Raschi, Allie Reynolds, and Ed Lopat, the Yankees possess three of the game's really fine pitchers.

The Yankees also have the uncanny knack of coming up with just the right replacement needed to insure the pennant. In 1947 it was Frank Shea who filled the shoes of Spud Chandler. In 1949 it was Coleman who replaced George Stinnett. Last year it was the sensational Eddie Ford who stepped in when Tommy Byrne wilted and copped nine of ten decisions.

Ford is now in the service. Gone also is Bobby Brown, the fine-hitting third baseman. That left two glaring gaps. So what do the "lucky" Yankees do but uncover three of the most promising rookies seen in many a year. Three young men named Mickey Mantle, Gil McDougald and Tom Morgan.

Property

The three aren't even on the Yankee roster. But they will be, any day now. They currently are the property of Yankee farm clubs.

The Red Sox, habitually slow starts, again may get off on the wrong foot. The team is the same except for Lou Boudreau, the ex-Indian manager, at short.

The pitching is much stronger as a result of the acquisition of Bill Wight and Ray Scarborough from the White Sox and Harry Taylor from St. Paul.

Others

Also nominated were Dr. Barry J. Barredale, of Houma, La., as Olympic manager and William J. Downing of Boston, assistant manager.

The committee also decided to conduct trials for the Olympic team next year in the same manner as in 1948.

Eight sectional AAU teams will compete in the finals along with Army and Navy teams and NCAA champions at a site to be selected, probably in June (1952).

East Bangor Schedules First Practice Session For Weekend

East Bangor—East Bangor's entry in the Blue Mountain league is hopeful of holding its first official practice this weekend, it was announced last night by Don Lang, secretary of the organization, following a business meeting of the Community association last night, at the Town Hall.

Help

All interested parties are asked to help fix the field for the coming campaign tonight, with the work beginning at 5. The infield must be repaired so that it can be rolled before the weekend.

The usual business was transacted at last night's meeting, with a special gathering scheduled for Monday, April 30.

Adelman, Rice Also Among Honored Group

Tom Bonser, high scoring forward for Ray's Chiefs, was named the outstanding performer of the Junior Gold Medal Basketball tournament just completed at the Monroe County YMCA, following a meeting of the committee last night.

Al Adelman, hard playing center for Twin Boroughs was named second best, while Bob Rice, also of Twin Boroughs, was named the third most outstanding player in the tournament.

The all-tournament team was composed of eight players, allowing three substitutes.

Names

In addition to Bonser, Adelman and Rice, the all-star contingent included Bill Fahringer, Leo Dailey, Donald "Buddy" Judge, Dave Everett and Norman Lewis.

Lewis and Judge played for Tobyhanna Township High school, while Fahringer was center for the Warriors and Everett forward for Twin Boroughs. Dailey was a guard with Ray's Chiefs.

Bonser, in addition to being named top player in the tournament, captured all scoring honors, with 23 points in one game and 56 in the tournament.

Judge was named as winner of the good sportsmanship award, for outstanding conduct on the court during the action.

Final standings of the tournament featured Twin Boroughs in first place, Warriors second and Ray's Chiefs third.

Pirates Edge Phillies, 8-7

Montgomery, Ala. (AP)—A four run outburst in the sixth inning helped the Pittsburgh Pirates edge the Philadelphia Phillies 8-7 last night in an exhibition.

Rookie

Rookie pitcher Con Dempsey worked seven innings for the Bucs. He gave up four runs and seven hits.

A rookie Bill Pierro, recalled from the Bucs' farm club training base at Deland, Fla., allowed two hits and three runs.

The Pirates outthit the National League champions 16-9. The Phils had five errors and the Pirates three.

Nagurski, Henry Named Grid Greats

New Brunswick, N. J., (AP)—"Bronco" Nagurski, one of the tackles on the all-time all-American football team, looks as though he could go out and play 60 minutes today.

But Wilbur "Fats" Henry, the other tackle on the dream team which was chosen by the nation's sportswriters and sportscasters, for the Associated Press, seems a long way from his last football game.

The reason is easy: Nagurski is a professional wrestler these days, while Henry has settled down to the relatively calm life of Athletic Director at his alma mater, Washington and Jefferson. Both now will receive consideration for spots in the National Football Hall of Fame.

The great Nagurski—he was so good that he got votes for both tackle and halfback—was surprised when he was told that he was selected as a lineman.

When he was interviewed at his International Falls, Minn., home, he was doing what he likes best—putting around the garden of his home and painting a boat in preparation for the spring season.

"I played only 32 minutes at tackle in Big Ten conference competition," he said, "and I actually liked fullback better. But this is the crowning touch of my career."

Highlight
The highlight of his career at the University of Minnesota came in 1928 when the Gophers were playing Wisconsin.

"We won that one by 6-0 and robbed Wisconsin of the Big Ten championship," chuckled Nag, who was busy keeping an eye on his children, Ronald 14 months, and Janice, 2. "We were crippled and much underrated."

"Bronk", now 42 years old, rates the 1927 Minnesota team as the best of his college days, and said that aggression could take care of any today.

Henry is like many former linemen—he likes to remember when he scored a touchdown.

"We were playing Westminster in 1917," he said in his Washington, Pa., office of W&J. "I was at right tackle, my usual spot. Westminster lined up in punt formation. I rushed through to block the punt, and darned if I didn't take the ball right off the toe of the kicker. I'll never forget that one."

Henry, now 53, didn't confine his attentions to football at W&J. He was the first student in the school to win four varsity letters. Besides his action on the football field, he was a guard on the basketball team, a catcher in baseball and tossed weights for the track squad.

He played pro football for eight years—1920 through 1928—then returned to W&J where he was given the assignment as varsity basketball coach, frosh football mentor, and assistant track coach.

Henry, who had his right leg amputated in 1948 as a result of an infection after suffering from diabetes, now walks with the aid of a wooden leg.

Additional Arrests May Be Made In Connection With Recent Basketball Scandal In New York

New York (AP)—An assistant district attorney said yesterday that basketball players not yet exposed in the recent series of fix exposures may be brought in for questioning.

William P. Sirignano, assistant district attorney in Manhattan, made the statement outside of court after a hearing of 14 players on bribery charges was postponed until April 14. Sirignano did not elaborate.

Magistrate Henri Schwod set back the hearing of the players, all charged with fixing or attempting fixing of college basketball games.

Investigation
Sirignano told the court that investigation of the activities of the players should be completed by the end of the month. He also said that "our investigation is continuing with respect to other fixers."

Sirignano told the magistrate that a superseding indictment against Salvatore Sollazzo, charged with bribing players to keep the point spread in basketball games within limits favorable to gamblers, was expected soon.

In the Bronx, County Judge James M. Barrett adjourned trial of six men named in indictments charging conspiracy and bribery in connection with Manhattan College games.

Hotrods Trip Clugstonians In Stroudsburg High Contest

An eight-point advantage in the second quarter and a slim edge in the final round enabled the Hotrods to nip the Clugstonians yesterday afternoon in the Arthur Snickley Memorial Basketball league, 22-20, at Stroudsburg High. The victory enabled the Hotrods to move into the championship battle this afternoon with the Neversweats, for possession of the trophy.

Scoring
The Clugstonians held a 9-4 edge at the end of first period but trailed at halftime, 14-11. Both clubs battled on even terms during the second half, with the Hotrods managing to hold the upper hand.

Kiner Elected Representative By Players

Cincinnati (AP)—Home-run king Ralph Kiner of the Pittsburgh Pirates has been named player-representative of the National league, it was announced yesterday.

Secretary of baseball Walter Mulberry confirmed Kiner's election by players of the senior loop. Mulberry said Ford Frick, president of the National league, so informed him yesterday.

Follows Marion
The Pittsburgh slugger succeeds Marty Marion of the St. Louis Cardinals, who became ineligible for the job after being elevated to manager of the Redbirds.

Kiner and Freddy Hutchinson, of the Detroit Tigers, will represent the players in matters before the major league club owners.

Spahn Goes Distance As Braves Trip Yankees

Dallas, Texas, (AP)—Although lefty Warren Spahn, who went the distance, yielded 14 hits, the Boston Braves trimmed the New York Yankees, 8-4, yesterday in an exhibition baseball game.

A crowd of 10,250 saw Manager Casey Stengel of the world champions banished from the game in the third inning by Plate Umpire Augie Donatelli for protesting that Gil McDougald had scored before the fans were retired on a double play.

Setup
With Joe DiMaggio on first, McDougald on second and one out, Yogi Berra hit to First Baseman Earl Torgeson who stopped, on first and tossed to Shortstop Johnny Logan to get DiMaggio at second. Donatelli ruled McDougald had not scored before DiMaggio had been retired.

Atomic Blast Authority To Speak Here

The author of what has been called one of the most important books to describe in vivid detail the effects of the atom bomb, comes to Stroudsburg on Thursday at 6:30 p. m., to speak at the Penn-Stroud hotel under the auspices of the Dutch Treat club.

District Attorney Detleff A. Hansen said yesterday that David Bradley, author of "No Place To Hide," as an Army medical officer was intimately connected with the work of the radiological safety section of Operation Crossroads during the atom bomb experiments at Bikini in 1946. His book is a day-by-day account of the events that took place on that isolated atoll in the Pacific.

Trained for the job in the Manhattan District project, he was one of a score charged with the job of ensuring that no one gets hurt by the invisible "X-rays" of an atomic blast. Faced with the lingering poison of radio activity, which contaminated the air, the ships, the water, the lagoon, these "Geiger men" learned some of the practical aspects of atomic war and the use of the Geiger counters, which Dr. Bradley describes as a "sixth sense, a prerequisite to survival in an atomic age." Dr. Bradley was one of two men chosen to fly in over Bikini lagoon immediately after the blast to determine whether it was safe for others to follow him.

River Seine Lends Unique Charm To Paris, Different From Any Other Large City

By Ruth Haller Ottaway

Paris—On this fine windy day following a March storm which afflicted all France, a stroll on the left bank was pure delight. The River Seine with its quays and many bridges and the left bank lend a unique charm to Paris and a character quite different from any other city. On the left bank students of music and art find cheap lodging, and American youth gone Existentialist grow beards and pseudo-wisdom.

Ruth H. Ottaway

The Seine enters Paris 300 miles from its source, makes an arc and divides the city into two parts. The right bank (two-thirds of the total area) is the great business and residential center where are the main theaters, hotels and shops, and many old palaces. When you have your fill of plays, concerts, galleries and shopping, the left bank offers endless diversions.

Ile de la Cite
Ile de la Cite, an island in the Seine, was the original Paris. Dominating the "Ile" are the famous Cathedral of Notre Dame and the Palais de Justice within the enclosure of which is the 13th century St. Chapelle, a jewel of Gothic architecture.

(We have no wish to become a "seeing-the-city guide" and bore, but to remind you of some of your old haunts beloved in memory, and make you see and feel Paris all over again.)

Always re-impressed and over-awed by Notre Dame, it gives an idea of the age of Paris to know that in the first century there was a pagan temple on the site of Notre Dame. Prayers have been said ceaselessly on this spot down the amazing trail of years and history.

The Institute of France
Near the Quai de Conti, we passed L'Institut de France. This fine old building, dating back to 1665, seems to stand guard over the ages. Within its austere walls are housed five academies famous for their awards in belles lettres, science, Beaux arts, and political science.

The many old palaces in Paris are impregnated with history. We can well believe that the old Palais d'Institut was once used as a "house of detention," delicate nomenclature for "prison." In it, among many others, Dr. Guillotin, deservedly, we should say, was "detained!"

The Bridges and Quais
It is great fun to walk along the quays and browse in the out-door book-stalls. We came off triumphant with five large illuminated prints of Gregorian music, etchings, and hunting scenes. The quays and the many uncovered stone bridges of ancient origin offer wonderful vistas of Paris. One strolls in a dream of beauty. Notre Dame rises majestically in the distance and the Dome des Invalides where Napoleon lies in state.

The pastels of old French houses and shops on the opposite shore are lovely to behold. A promenade runs along the river below the diagonal and neatly bricked slope of the embankment. Young students from the Latin Quarter lie on the slanting brick almost in upright position relaxing in the sun and wind. On the edge of the river, the old stand and fish. It all is very leisurely and happy, beguiling one into thinking that war cannot be around the bend.

The Louvre
Leaving the Quai de Conti and L'Institut, we walked across the

Hospital Detains Governor's Wife

Philadelphia (AP)—Mrs. John S. Fine, wife of Pennsylvania's chief executive, has been detained at University of Pennsylvania hospital, and will be kept "under observation" for several weeks, hospital authorities reported yesterday.

She entered the hospital on Saturday for a routine check. About a month ago she underwent an emergency brain operation there.

A hospital spokesman said Dr. Francis C. Grant, chief neurosurgeon, examined Mrs. Fine yesterday and ordered X-rays of the head regions and particularly the teeth.

Old Story, New Twist

Pont des Arts which spans the Seine just opposite the Louvre, and entered the tremendous court of the Louvre which circles it for blocks. Thousands of windows in this greatest of French palaces blink down at you from the past. The Kings and Queens and fortresses and dungeons in its fearful history from the 14th century, and now its treasury of the finest art in the world are so overwhelming that you shrink to your actual small size and admit what you already know deep inside, that you are of trivial importance, if of any at all.

You are glad to cross to the Rue de Rivoli, stop at a pharmacie and buy DOP, the only shampoo in the world for the raven tresses of your dear friend at home. It seems so normal. Your mind is cleared of the weight of palaces and prisons, and you wonder if it possibly could be that the DOP you are looking at on the noses of the passing buses means shampoo instead of a destination. Yes, it does, in this ancient and artistic city!

Once ensconced in your velvet French bed, you drowse off, floating with those puffy, soft, columnous clouds above the wind-ripped Seine, and say with Montaigne, "Paris hath my heart."

Military Rites Conducted For Pfc. F. E. Foote

Funeral services for Pfc. Frank Earl Foote Jr., 19-year-old East Stroudsburg youth who died after a fall from a moving weapons carrier at Luzon, Philippine Islands, on February 25, were held yesterday at the Lanterman funeral home, 27 Washington St., East Stroudsburg.

Private Foote, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Foote Sr., now of Bridgeport, Conn., was serving in the Signal Corps at Clark Air base when the fatal accident occurred. He died of a skull fracture and other injuries in the air base hospital one hour and 34 minutes after falling from the military vehicle.

The services yesterday were conducted by Rev. Harold C. Eaton, pastor of the East Stroudsburg Methodist church. The Monroe County Memorial committee conducted military rites at the Laurelwood cemetery.

and was fined $25.

Shotwell, Two Others May Switch Income Tax Vote

Measure May Be Revived On Wednesday

Harrisburg (AP)—The administration last night fixed Wednesday for its effort to revive the defeated State income tax bill—with the result in doubt.

"Frankly, I do not know whether the Republican leadership has enough votes to pass it," Speaker Herbert P. Sorensen told a newsman.

The proposal for a one-half of one per cent income tax, designed to raise $119,000,000 in the next two years, went to a surprising 108 to 98 defeat in the House last Wednesday.

Twenty-two Republicans voted against the measure, including three GOP leaders who changed their votes to "no" to enable reconsideration of the bill.

Of the 19 GOP House members who opposed the bill last week, 16 were reported sticking to their guns. The other three, Reps. Paige Varner (Clarion), John S. Shotwell (Monroe) and Edward Dunn (Northumberland), said there was a possibility they may switch their "no" votes to "yes."

The big Republican delegations—five from Schuylkill, five from Montgomery and four from Delaware county—stood pat.

While the tax battle churned beneath the surface, both Senate and House ran through short sessions on non-controversial subjects to permit Democratic legislators to attend a Jefferson-Jackson day dinner in Philadelphia. The Senate was in session for 40 minutes, the House for 50 minutes.

The House passed a bill which would set up a State board of nurses to regulate and license nurses in Pennsylvania. The measure went to the Senate.

The House also advanced for a vote a Senate-approved proposal calling for annual sessions of the Legislature.

A deficiency appropriation bill of $10,000,000 to carry relief until the end of the present biennium on May 31 passed finally in the Senate. It was sent to the Governor.

On the income tax fight, G. Harold Watkins, Schuylkill county Republican chairman, said his five House members would confer today on the controversial issue.

"As it stands today, however, the members feel they are still against the bill," said Watkins.

Rep. Edward S. Swartz (R-Dauphin), an outspoken Republican against the income tax, said principal pressure to change his vote came from the Pennsylvania State Education association and the Pennsylvania Manufacturers association.

"A week ago, I felt the income tax bill was wrong," said Swartz. "Today, I know it is wrong. That's the only change in my opinion."

Rep. John C. Miller (R-Beaver), another GOP House member who voted against the income tax measure, also reported he was contacted on the weekend by the teachers' and manufacturers groups.

Varner said he conferred with the Governor on the income tax bill but that he gave Fine no assurance that he would change his "no" vote.

The 86-vote Democratic bloc in the House was reported to be as solid as ever in its stand against the levy.

In the face of that, the Republican leadership needs four more votes than it had last Wednesday. A constitutional majority of 105 is required to pass a bill in the House.

The Schuylkill county House delegation conferred with United Mine Workers spokesmen at Shenandoah and Frackville over the weekend and received praise for its stand against an income tax.

Watkins took the stand that other fields of possible revenue should be explored before going ahead with the income tax.

For example, he said the cent a bottle soft drinks tax should not be allowed to die, pointing out it brought in $29,000,000 in the past two years.

Non-Operating Rail Workers Won't Get Full 6-Cent Hike Promised By White House

Washington (AP)—A million railroad workers aren't going to get the full six cents an hour cost of living increase promised them in a White House wage agreement.

Economic Stabilizer Eric Johnston said the full six cents would be more than the wage freeze allows, and so the Army announced yesterday that the increase would be limited to 1½ cents.

President Truman, however, has ordered the creation of a special panel to consider the conflict between the March 1 wage agreement and the stabilization program. And the Army said it will consider the cost-of-living payment after this panel's report is approved.

The workers involved are non-operating employees such as shop workers, clerks and machinists.

Their non-operating employees won a flat 12½ cents an hour increase in a mediation agreement reached at the White House in March. In addition, this agreement called for a cost of living raise that worked out to an additional six cents an hour on April 1.

The president of one of their unions, Jesse Clark of the AFL Brotherhood of Railroad Signalmen, said the Army's decision "will have serious repercussions."

"It will cause an upheaval in the industry and in the country as a whole," Clark said in Chicago.

George Leighty, a spokesman for the non-operating unions, expressed disappointment the workers aren't going to get the wage increase, but said he thought the special panel would take prompt action on the matter.

In New York, the New York Central railroad said it is laying off several thousand employees in 11 eastern states.

A railroad spokesman said the reasons for the layoff included a drop in business volume, recent wage increases and higher prices of materials. The spokesman said the railroad lost about $10,000,000 in the first three months of this year, chiefly because of a "sick call" strike of switchmen.

A check with some of the other principal railroads disclosed that the lay-offs are not general.

Chinese Open Dam In Futile Attempt To Block U.N. Troops

Tokyo, Tuesday (AP)—American tanks today pushed deeper into the heart of Red Korea up a gorge which retreating Chinese tried desperately to block by opening flood gates of a dam.

But the trick failed. Instead of bogging down the Allied push in central Korea, Red defenders of Hwachon reservoir found their rear guard threatened by the advancing armor.

The tanks skirted the swollen but already receding Pukhan river and rolled along a gorge road which the released millions of tons of water failed to reach.

Between 200 and 300 Reds, who pulled back across the Pukhan just before the flood-gates were opened Monday, were squeezed into a narrow neck of land between the river and the western end of the dam.

Far to the northwest of the ground action, 12 U. S. F-86 Sabers won a new sky fight today with eight Russian-type MIG-15 jets. They shot down one MIG and damaged another near Sinuiju in an area now known as "MIG Alley." That brought the bag of enemy HIGS to six destroyed and 16 damaged in sky fights so far this month.

Allied planes reported the Reds resorting to new measures in desperate efforts to keep supplies and men moving toward the battle lines.

Last night the 1,850 Red vehicles spotted were moving along little-used roads instead of the main highways.

The opening of flood gates at Hwachon reservoir—Korea's third largest dam—proved a washout to the Red cause. The Chinese had failed to open enough gates at once to cause the deluge they wanted.

Board Quits In Rift Over Closing School

All five members of the Price township school board have resigned in a surprise move believed to be the first of its kind in Monroe county.

The resignations were submitted to President Judge Fred W. Davis, of Monroe county courts, late Saturday, but no announcement was made until yesterday.

Clarence A. Lesoine, East Stroudsburg RD 2, who served as president of the resigned board, said last night that discussion throughout the township and friction concerning the financing of the 1951-52 school year prompted the board to quit.

Since all board members made their moves to resign at the same time, the resignation was made with the county courts.

The resigned members include Justin Cramer, who had been treasurer of the board; Layton H. Brush, the board secretary; Lesoine, Austin Brush, a member, and Ervin W. Gross, the fifth member of the five-man board.

All but Gross made their resignations effective Thursday, April 12. Gross mentioned no specific date, but the wording of the terse statement indicated it was effective immediately.

Layton Brush resigned not only as a board member but also as secretary of the board. Cramer, who had been treasurer holding the only other office for which a non-member of the board would be eligible, failed to include the word treasurer in his resignation, but it was reported late yesterday that this was an oversight which will be corrected.

Claude E. Metzgar, prothonotary and clerk of courts, said all five resignations have been filed with the court.

The Price township board conducts one of the few one-room schools in the region. This year's pupil population in the sparsely settled township is 17, all of whom are elementary students in grades one through six.

Disagreement in regard to school board policy reportedly came to a head at a taxpayers' meeting held March 26, at which time those attending voted 26 to 10 to increase the assessed valuation of property in the township in order to obtain sufficient funds for operating next year.

At the same time, those at the meeting indicated they are in favor of transporting Price pupils to another school district, preferably East Stroudsburg.

Several sources said yesterday, however, that strenuous opposition to transporting pupils has developed, since residents fear that, once the small township school is abandoned, it may never be reopened again in face of modern trends toward centralization and consolidation.

Several of the resigned members told of a plan for transporting the present number of Price pupils to East Stroudsburg at a cost which would be less than that of operating the one-teacher school.

They added, though, that this saving would not continue if the school district pupil population were to increase in later years.

County Superintendent John C. Litts said yesterday that his office has been advised of the mass resignations and that Dr. Francis B. Haas, State superintendent of public instruction, has also been notified.

Under the Pennsylvania school code, the court must wait at least 10 days and then appoint a temporary school board which will serve until the next regular election in the township.

Present indication is that Judge Davis will appoint a temporary panel after April 22, which would be 10 days from the effective date of the four resignations.

Two Stroudsburg Men Return To War Duty After Being Missing Since February

Joy filled the household of Mr. and Mrs. John Tanner, 924 Sarah St., Stroudsburg, yesterday with the receipt of a telegram from Pfc. Glenn John Tanner, their son.

Pfc. Glenn John Tanner

reporting he was "all right and will be home soon." The great news came on his father's 40th birthday.

Young Tanner was reported missing in action in Korea on February 6 this year. The wire received yesterday was completely devoid of any specific information regarding the Stroudsburg boy's experiences.

It is assumed, however, that he was with other GIs who had either been taken prisoner and escaped or had been isolated from their units for such a period of time to cause the Defense department to list them as "missing in action."

Tanner attended local schools and worked for sometime before he enlisted in the Army on July 20, 1950. He was given a "delay enroute" furlough which brought him home here around Thanksgiving, 1950.

When Tanner left home after the furlough he moved to the west coast with an infantry unit and directly to Korea. Tanner participated in some of the major winter offensives of late 1950 and early 1951 before he was declared missing in action.

The wire he sent his parents yesterday indicated Tanner will be returned to the United States and home in the near future.

Oddly, on Saturday the Defense department wired the Tanners there was still no word of their son. He was, at that time, listed as "missing in action."

Biological War Held Improbable

St. Louis (AP)—Biological warfare probably couldn't start large-scale disease epidemics in America, Dr. Robert E. Dyer, of Emory University said yesterday.

Biological war (BW) is being discussed as a new kind of war. Enemy planes or ships could spread disease germs. Or saboteurs could spill germs into water supplies, or into ventilating systems of buildings.

"It is doubtful that a widespread epidemic could be started that way," Dr. Dyer, formerly director of the National Institute of Health and now director of research at Emory, told the American College of Physicians.

Jury Indicts Accused Slayer

Seranton (AP)—A Wyoming county grand jury yesterday indicted Charles E. Homyer, 53, formerly of Factoryville, on charges of murder and forgery.

Homyer is accused of having murdered his wife, Anna, 64, former circus aerialist and Bronx rooming house proprietress, and of having forged her name to the deed for the home when it was sold.

Parts of a woman's body identified by neighbors as that of Mrs. Homyer were found buried in the basement of the home.

The trial is expected to begin at the June term of court.

Situation Desperate

New York (AP)—Erle Cocke Jr., national American Legion commander, said yesterday a "desperate situation" in Korea offers Army troops only two chances of relief from battle—being wounded or killed.

It was a busy but happy day yesterday for Mrs. Laura S. Thomas, 553 Main St., Stroudsburg.

She spent most of her time answering queries and telephone calls from friends.

The reason behind all this was a brief telegram from Brig. Gen. John H. McCormick, director of military personnel, U. S. Air Force.

It stated: "I am pleased to inform you that your son, 1st Lt. Donald S. Thomas Sr., who was previously reported missing in action, has been returned to military control."

"I hope that you will soon have the comfort of hearing directly from him."

The 29-year-old bombardier-navigator was reported missing in action February 14 with two other members of his crew. Their plane, a B-26 medium bomber, failed to return after making its second bombing run in one day over Red-controlled Korean territory.

Word reached his mother of his promotion to captain after he had been reported missing.

Captain Thomas, who is married and has a five-year-old son, Donald Jr., is a graduate of Stroudsburg High School and served with the Air Force during the last war.

His wife, Margaret, returned from Japan to her Birmingham, Ala., home a month ago and expressed conviction that her husband was still alive.

Since no word has been received yet from the airman, details of his whereabouts and what has happened to him since last February are not known.

Hope rose for the crew's safety shortly before Captain Thomas' wife returned to the State.

Advancing U. N. forces located a B-26 bomber which had crashed. Although apparently in tact and not burned, it had flipped over on its back. Since it was in an inaccessible position, it was not known at the time whether it was the missing plane Thomas was in.

"I can hardly wait to hear what has happened to him," Mrs. Thomas said last night. "I never lost hope that he'd be found alive and his wife had an unshakable faith. I can truthfully say that I can attribute this to prayer."

Douglas Opposes Abolishing RFC

Washington (AP)—Senator Douglas (D-Ill.) came out yesterday against abolishing the Reconstruction Finance Corp. he helped to investigate. To kill the agency at this time, he said, "would be like throwing the baby out with the bath."

"The RFC, with all its faults, has served many useful functions—especially in filling a gap in our credit structure," Douglas said. He added that it can continue to serve the public if it is properly conducted.

The Illinois Democrat also called for a higher standard of ethics in the national capital, where he claimed there was too much moral laxity.

"Government work should not be settled at cocktail parties or around dinner tables in hotels," he said.

16 Die In Crash

Hong Kong (AP)—A two-engined Siamese Airlines plane crashed into the sea yesterday off Cape D'Agular, seaward tip of Hong Kong island, while attempting a landing through low clouds and rain. All 11 passengers and the Siamese crew of five were believed lost.

Court Sets Aside Conviction Of Two Florida Negroes

Washington (AP)—The Supreme court set aside yesterday the conviction of two Florida Negroes who had been sentenced to die for the rape of a white girl.

Two justices said their trial was "but a legal gesture to register a verdict already dictated by the press and the public opinion which it generated."

But the majority of seven justices reversed the judgments because Negroes were excluded from the jury. Their brief order didn't discuss other issues.

Rape of the 17-year-old girl brought racial violence to little Groveland, Fla., in July, 1949. White mobs attempted a lynching and burned Negro homes. Negroes fled the community. One Negro suspect was killed when he resisted arrest. Troops were called to restore quiet.

In another case, of possible great significance, the court agreed to decide whether doctors can organize their own non-profit hospital and health insurance programs.

HST Doesn't Want To Upset Jap Situation

Washington (AP)—President Truman was reported yesterday to have ruled out any action against Gen. Douglas MacArthur that would affect MacArthur's status as supreme commander in the far east.

The possibility remained that the President might publicly or privately rebuke the general for his open split with the administration—and with United Nations policies—over the conduct of the war with the Chinese Communists.

Also yesterday, House Speaker Rayburn said the Russians are building up strength in a variety of places and Senator McMahon (D-Conn.) agreed with Rayburn that the U. S. is in "terrible danger."

MacArthur set off an international uproar, with Mr. Truman in the middle of it, by coming out last week in favor of using Chinese Nationalist forces to open a "second front" against the Reds as a means of relieving pressure on U. N. troops in Korea.

Many Republicans strongly backed the general's stand. But from this country's Allies abroad, there were quick and sharp protests against any spreading of the Korean war. In some foreign quarters, and from a few Democrats at home, there were demands that MacArthur be removed from his command.

An informed congressional official said yesterday, however, that Mr. Truman doesn't want to do anything that might upset the situation in Japan and thereby give the Russians a chance to demand a bigger share in running Japanese affairs.

MacArthur heads the Allied occupation force in Japan as well as the United Nations forces fighting in Korea. Russia is one of the Japanese occupation powers. MacArthur has been running Japan so far without taking much advice from the Russians.

MacArthur was named United Nations commander by action of the Security Council last July 7 when Russia was boycotting the U. N. deliberations on Korea. The Security Council asked President Truman in a resolution to name a U. N. commander and he did so by appointing MacArthur on May 8, 1950.

While the MacArthur controversy sizzled, Speaker Rayburn told reporters: "I know that we are in terrible danger because the Russians are concentrating here and there and everywhere."

The Texas Democrat made the statement a few minutes after he and other party leaders in Congress met with the President at the White House.

Rayburn said it was "a little beyond my field" to say where Russian troop concentrations are taking place.

"But I have it on good authority—the best authority," he declared. Senator McMahon, chairman of the Joint Congressional Committee on Atomic Energy, said he agreed with Rayburn on the grave danger.

McMahon, who also called on the President, told reporters he thought the danger had increased in recent months and would continue to increase as the Russians make further progress with their atomic energy program.

Congress leaders who attended yesterday's White House meeting said MacArthur's latest pronouncement was discussed, but only briefly.

The White House itself maintained a rigid silence. "I have no comment to make on the MacArthur situation," Presidential Press Secretary Joseph Short told inquiring reporters.

Short also was asked about London reports that the U. S. and Britain are planning a new declaration of policy on Korea.

"I can find no such project in the works," he replied.

The French Foreign ministry confirmed, meanwhile, that France has lined up with Great Britain in opposing MacArthur's second front proposal.

Rep. Van Zandt (R-Pa.) is drafting a House resolution telling the President he should order MacArthur home to report personally on the Far East.

Rewrite UMT Section

Washington (AP)—Members of the House Armed Services committee rewrote the universal military training section of their draft bill yesterday in an effort to ease its passage through the House.

Lt. Donald S. Thomas

New Advisory Board Meets With Truman

Washington (AP)—President Truman appealed yesterday for the "complete cooperation of every segment of our population" in the mobilization program.

Mr. Truman made the appeal at the initial meeting of his new Mobilization Advisory board composed of labor, industry, farm and public members and headed by Economic Mobilizer Charles E. Wilson.

Joseph Short, White House press secretary, told reporters afterwards that Mr. Truman informed the group that "aggression, inflation and relaxation" are the nation's biggest problems.

Asked what Mr. Truman meant by "relaxation" being a problem, Short replied "well, just that in general—he doesn't want the people to let down."

The President discussed two principal situations with the 17-member board:

One—Ways to change the defense production act to help do a better job of military rearmament and, at the same time, do a more effective job in controlling inflation. The act expires June 30.

Two—The problem of putting the Wage Stabilization board back into business. It has been inactive since union labor representatives walked out two months ago in protest against mobilization policies.

Toll In Crash Mounts To 20

Charleston, W. Va., (AP)—Plans for a mass military funeral took shape slowly yesterday as the death toll in the flaming crash of an Air Force plane on a nearby mountaintop climbed to 20.

Capt. Harry K. Blackhurst, 31, of Charleston, one of two officers thrown alive from the craft Sunday as it ripped a blazing streak along a wooded ridge, died in a hospital.

Still given at least a 50-50 chance of recovering was the lone survivor, Maj. Isaac E. Bonifas, 41, of Portland, Ind. He lay swathed in bandages beneath an oxygen tent.

John H. Ware Appointed To Gas Council

John H. Ware, 3rd, Oxford, Pa., chairman of the board of the Citizens Gas Co. and 18 affiliated gas utility concerns, has been appointed to the Gas Industry Advisory Council by Secretary of the Interior Oscar L. Chapman.

The council has been formed by the Department of Interior in connection with the responsibilities given to the secretary under the defense production act of 1950.

Mr. Ware spent all of last week in Washington testifying before the Federal Power commission in prosecution of the local company's application to secure natural gas from the Manufacturers Light and Heat Co.

His testimony was also directed at obtaining natural gas service for Bangor Gas Co. and the Pen Argyl Gas Co., two of the affiliates of Mr. Ware's companies.

The cross-country natural gas line of Manufacturers passes close to Bangor and the Citizens Gas Co. territory in the Stroudsburgs.

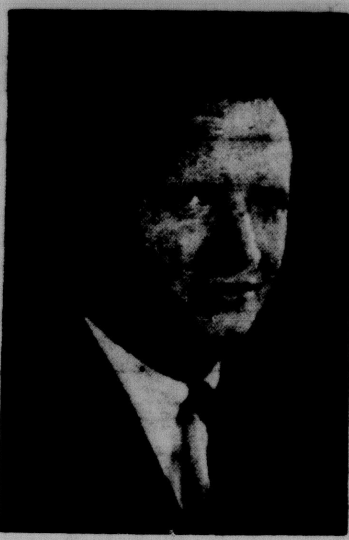

Locally, the line crosses the Minisink Hills road in Smithfield township not far from the East Stroudsburg borough line on Brown St. extension.

All of the regional companies have on hand the pipe required to make connections.

Charles Widmer Honored At Rites

Funeral services for Charles A. Widmer, for years a barber in the Stroudsburg region, were held at 2 p. m. yesterday in Dunkelberger & Westbrook funeral home.

Rev. Francis C. Thomas, Stroudsburg Methodist church, officiated. Interment was in Stroudsburg cemetery. Pallbearers were Donald J. Anderson, James A. Somers, Jacob Kintz II, Chauncey D. Schuch, Russell J. Swingle, Harold Albert.

Woman Sells Property On Courtland St.

Edgar N. and Edith S. Peters, of Middle Smithfield township, have purchased a property on the east side of N. Courtland St. in East Stroudsburg, according to a deed placed on file here yesterday at the county court house office of Register and Recorder Floyd Butz.

Title to the dwelling and lot was conveyed to the Peters couple by Alice N. Stalmer, of East Stroudsburg.

In another transfer yesterday, James A. and Edith M. Zacharias, of Polk township, transferred title to a property and tract in Polk to Leon L. and Elsie H. Zacharias, also of Polk township.

Ownership of a Stroud township property on the Analomink-Bartonsville road was also changed from Lewis H. Bush, East Stroudsburg, to Lewis H. Bush and Russell I. Bush, East Stroudsburg.

Serfass Elected President Of Stroudsburg Teachers; Tax Study Committee Named

Mahlon E. Serfass, head of the foreign language department of Stroudsburg High school, yesterday was elected president of Stroudsburg Teachers association.

Three other officers of the association were re-elected to their posts. They are Gale P. Miner, vice president and chairman of the program committee; James T. Anthony III, secretary; James Hantjia, treasurer.

Samuel O. Wells III, chairman of the group's legislative committee, reported on proposed education bills now before the State Legislature and the effect the proposed income tax will have upon them.

He said unless some sort of tax program is passed, the teachers' legislative program faces almost certain doom.

Teachers asserted they favored adoption of the income tax over a sales tax.

A committee, headed by Mr. Wells, was appointed to study both the local and State tax structure. Serving with him will be Alfred W. Munson, Roger A. Dunning, Mrs. Margaret Smith and Gale P. Miner.

The committee has been empowered to publish the results of their findings.

The association's salary committee, which will continue to be headed by Mr. Serfass, was also empowered to continue its work.

"with equalization of salaries as the main goal."

Teachers again expressed their disappointment in recent action regarding the setting of salaries taken by the board of education.

In a statement released for publication, they expressed their dissatisfaction was "not based upon the money involved, but the principles upon which the salaries were based."

Teachers emphasized a program establishing an equalization of salaries is yet to be gained.

Plans were made to invite Dr. Chester McNeerney, professor of education at Pennsylvania State College, to return to Stroudsburg and talk to a special meeting of teachers, parents and "all citizens interested in the educational advancement of Stroudsburg schools."

Mr. McNeerney spoke to Stroudsburg teachers last Wednesday during an in-service training program meeting.

Top Prizes Won By Dogs

Short — Astolat kennels here showed seven of their Shetland sheepdogs at the Bethlehem armory Sunday and picked up a number of top awards.

Three first prizes were taken by offspring of Champion Frigate's Emplen of Astolat. Pixie won the blue in the three to six month male puppy class while his sister Negra won the honors in the female class of this age. In the six to nine month male puppy class Astolat Red Fox walked off with first.

Pixie and Negra, although shown by Mrs. Constance Hubbard of Astolat kennels, are already sold and will soon go to new homes in New York City and Fairbanks, Alaska.

Other ribbons won by the Hubbards' "Shelties" were third in the three to six month female puppies with Gay; fourth in the six to nine month puppy with Astolat Lucky Libby and second with As-

Beautiful to look at Beautiful to drive

Watch the little lady park the beautiful, big car ... a single finger on the steering wheel can do it now, with Hydrguide!

Now Hydrguide Steering does four-fifths of the work for you!

THINK of the easiest steering car you ever drove ... then imagine one five times easier to steer! Chrysler's new Hydrguide power steering ... regular on Crown Imperials and optional at extra cost on all New Yorker and Imperial models ... gives you exactly that. Here is by far the greatest single change in handling ease—and safety—you ever found in any car. At your touch on the steering wheel, the car mechanically provides four-fifths of the energy to turn the tires on the road. Like so much in these new Chryslers ... Hydrguide is so basically new, so basically better than anything before, that only when you try it can you ever know what it really does!

The longest day's drive you ever made ... without arm-and-shoulder fatigue at the end. Around the curves ... over the hills ... Hydrguide does four-fifths of the work!

In tight city traffic ... on awkward driveways and roads ... Hydrguide means new safety, new ease, new swiftness of steering control!

The Most Basically New Cars of All

Beneath the rich new beauty of these Chryslers for 1951 are 73 different improvements and advances. Among them are the most basic new ideas in any cars for many years! Like the revolutionary new FirePower engine, of 180 horsepower, which gives owners of Chrysler Imperial and New Yorker cars the most powerful, most efficient, most all-around economical powerplant in any car today! And like the amazing new Chrysler Oriflow shock absorbers, which give every new Chrysler car riding ease with twice the shock-absorbing power of any other cars at any price. And with all their newness, they're built to stand by you like no car you can buy!

Coolbaugh Planning

Supervisors of Coolbaugh Township recently took a long and very wise step when they retained a noted municipal planning consultant to take over the vital task of planning and zoning their community to meet the impact of the 5,000-employee, $30,000,000 Signal Corp Depot installation in their region.

The consultant will develop, after careful analysis into existing conditions and potentials of the future, a sound municipal plan complete with streets, parks, residential and business zoning, recreational facilities, etc.

No haphazard boom-town development will occur in Tobyhanna or Coolbaugh Township.

Not only the immediate Coolbaugh Township community will figure in the studies, findings and recommendations of the consultant, but the regional aspects of municipal development will be considered.

As Rep. Francis E. Walter (D) 20th District said after an inspection of the Signal Corps Depot site: "Some day the City of Tobyhanna will be sending its football team off the mountain to play the teams in Stroudsburg."

That prophetic statement could be founded more in fact than fancy. Especially since Coolbaugh Township supervisors have very smartly decided to move only according to expert municipal planning.

Too Many Chances

Social Legislation previously pointed out the merits of Senate Bill 104, and urged its support as a forward-looking measure for dealing with sex offenders whose crimes have been of such serious concern to Pennsylvanians in all parts of the State.

This bill, was viewed as a constructive proposal providing for the permanent segregation from society, offenders of this class who could not be helped, and for the treatment of those who could be assisted to a better life. We regret that damaging amendments have been introduced which we believe would destroy the effect of this legislation. These amendments provide that a man imprisoned for an indeterminate period under the provisions of this act, would have three opportunities for release. He could appeal to the Parole Board. If the Parole Board turns him down, he can appeal to the courts or he may choose to appeal to the courts directly in the first place. This would give these offenders, whom the act aims to deal with as special problems, an opportunity for release from prison which no other inmates would have.

Other prison inmates are released only by appeal to the Parole Board, a Board which has done a good job in the State of Pennsylvania. It would work havoc with the Board to have a special class of prisoners created who could take their requests for release elsewhere at choice. It would burden the courts who have no facilities or opportunity for knowing the prisoner after years have elapsed, and would be destructive of the original intention of the measure proposed.

These amendments should be removed or so framed that they will serve to safeguard the civil rights of the prisoner but not defeat or block the work of the Parole Board.

Eighty per cent of all the money spent for food in the United States is spent by women.

The United States loses the equivalent of 500,000 acres of topsoil a year, due to erosion.

Under normal conditions the average person's heart beats more than 100,000 times every 24 hours.

Sponges vary in size from almost microscopic specimens to sponges that are more than six feet tall.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cert

Paul Talbot offers a little story that should be relayed at once to any Communist that may be left in our midst. It seems that an American labor delegation was visiting the vast Skoda Works in Czechoslovakia. The Americans asked, "Who owns this great factory?" The guide replied proudly, "We, the people, own it. Not only that, but we get all the profits."

Then the Americans noticed three large and luxurious automobiles parked outside the gate and asked who owned them. The guide's face fell a little but he explained, "One is owned by the Chairman of Defense, one by the Chairman of the Workers Committee, and the other by some big-shot from Russia who is down here checking up."

The following summer some of the Skoda labor leaders came to America for a reciprocal visit and were taken to see the Ford plant near Detroit. "Who owns this factory?" the visitors asked. Their host explained, "Mr. Ford does. And he also gets the profits." Then the visitors saw the amazing sight of some 3,000 automobiles parked in large areas around the plant and asked in wonderment, "Who owns all those cars?" The American replied with a smile, "We, the employees, own those cars—and furthermore, we can drive them anywhere we wish in the evenings and over our two-day weekends."

Hollywood

By Gene Handsaker

Hollywood—The whirlwind producing-writing team of Wald and Kraska have 63 possible movies mapped out for Alan Ladd. They have 30 story properties that might be suitable for Olivia de Havilland, 15 for Joan Crawford, and six each for Gary Cooper, Errol Flynn and Greta Garbo.

"I don't say these stories are all great," said Jerry Wald, a heavy-set ex-newspaperman. "But when you have a lot to choose from, it's easier."

If Wald and his partner, Norman Kraska, are anything, they are prolific. Most of their movie ideas come from the public prints carefully clipped, filed, and indexed. They have contracted to deliver 12 pictures a year for the next five years. Will they?

"Oh, sure," said Wald. "We've already done all the dirty work for the first year, getting the scripts ready." With 14 scripts completed, they are now working on projects coming up more than a year from now.

Wald's office at RKO is one floor above the busy street in early-American style. He's there from 8:30 a. m. to 6:30 p. m., and has a sandwich and glass of milk brought in for lunch. He reads till midnight or after at his Beverly Hills home, where also reside his wife, two sons, two dogs, two birds, and two rabbits. Partner Kraska says of Jerry, "He does a little more than 'anyone can do comfortably.'"

Kraska's office is down the hall. They shoot their cowpoke story in Texas or nearby Newhall? (Which is cheaper? Which offers greater production values?) How about getting Jean Simmons for a picture? Look over these song lyrics, will you, Jerry? Kraska is baldish and pink-cheeked. The partners met years ago when Kraska was drama editor and Wald radio editor of the late New York Evening Graphic.

They both believe the story's the thing in movie-making. Jerry said, "Material is the most important thing in our lives. When you read a lot of junk, the good things come to the surface quickly. No star ever made a bad story good, but the story makes a star. Movies' greatest need today is good writing—men who know their craft." He added: "Follow the leader is a dangerous game that too many people play. With 'All About Eve' out, everybody wants to do a theater story. This is the time not to do a theater story. A carbon copy never reads as well as the original."

These Days -- By George E. Sokolsky

Sokolsky

The IPR Sage In connection with the forthcoming investigation by the McCarran Committee, I have been recounting the history of the Institute of Pacific Relations, which is a central point of any studies made of the Asiatic Policy of the United States. The IPR has, since its organization (1925), been a great factor not only in determining Far Eastern policy but in the training and selection of personnel.

In previous articles, I have discussed the origin and changes in this organization. Now, we come to the biennial conference held at Banff, Canada, August 14-26, 1933.

It was at this meeting that the American group appeared in full control. E. C. Carter, the secretary of the American Council, becoming Secretary-General of the International Organization.

The Russians were absent at Banff and the reason officially given was:

"... but lack of recognition of the Soviet government by the governments of Canada and the United States, and passport regulations that fall short of according visitors from the Soviet Union complete equality with representatives of other countries, prevented this proffered co-operation from materializing. The Pacific Council, in taking cognizance of this situation, not only expressed deep regret but determined to make sure that the time and place for the next conference, in 1935, should be chosen with the fullest regard for the wishes of this important member group."

Considerable concern was expressed over the absence of the Russians and the preface to the 1933 report says:

"... indeed, some of the questions for discussion drafted months earlier almost seemed designed to draw out issues in which the U. S. S. R. is especially interested: as, for example, those relating to the effect of national economic policies on international conflict—specifically those relating to trade expansion—to the industrialization of new areas, and the quest for underlying causes and motives of such policies. Government monopolies, the effect of 'anti-dumping' laws, embargoes, controls over the export of capital, and other subjects of that nature were discussed in some instances with illustrations directly relating to conflicts between the Union and other powers with interests in the Pacific.

"Towards the end of the economic discussions, questions came up concerning the efficacy of methods tried by different governments in adjusting their internal machinery of economic controls to the international situation; and here again the lack of first-hand evidence from the Soviet Republics distinctly limited the discussion, although a few members, such as Colonel Hugh Cooper, an American engineer with long experience in Russia, were relatively well informed. In one of the round tables on education, statements were made about Soviet propaganda in neighboring states of the Far East which, in the absence of a Soviet spokesman, remained unchanged though to some they seemed to be contrary to the known policies of the Soviet Union.

"That these difficulties due to the absence of one of the most important groups in the institute were realized by many of the members appears also from the discussions of the international programme committee which, in planning for the main theme of the 1935 conference, placed in the forefront of its considerations the widely felt need for a full presentation of the economic and social policies of the Soviet Union, with the philosophy and concrete objectives at the back of them."

It was decided to call the 1935 conference at a place where the Russians would be welcome. It was, however, known in August, 1933, that the Roosevelt administration intended to recognize Soviet Russia. This was achieved in November, 1933.

Jerome D. Greene, who had been chairman of the American Council, had resigned and Newton D. Baker, former Secretary of War, had taken his place. Among those who were on the American group at Banff were: Philip Jessup, B. H. Kiser, Owen Lattimore, and Henry R. Luce. The secretaries of the American group were:

Joseph Barnes, Miss Caroline Corbett, Mrs. F. V. Field, T. J. Kreps, Miss Harriet Moore, Lawrence S. Rockefeller, Miss Caroline Thompson, Grover Clark, Miss E. Fabyan, Miss Nan Y. Hewitt, Miss Kate Mitchell, Miss Carol Riegelman, Mrs. Maude W. Stewart, Miss Charlotte Tyler.

Frederick Vanderbilt Field, who was at this time one of the most effective men in the organization was swiftly moving from a Norman Thomas Socialist to a Communist, does not appear as an officer, but merely as a member of the conference staff.

Washington Report

By Fulton Lewis Jr.

Washington—Now that we are sparring around in the preliminary stages of a war with Russia, Representative Robert B. Chipperfield, Illinois Republican, thought it was a good idea to figure out just how Russia got strong enough to challenge us.

The Illinois Republican figures that Russia took such a pasting from Germany during World War II that only by extensive outside help could she be ready for another war. Russia got the help, all right, and most of it was from the U. S., the congressman says in the April issue of Reader's Digest.

Chipperfield balances the books on U. S.-Soviet mutual aid this way: Eleven billion lend-lease; two billion to Russia via the UN relief and rehabilitation administration; two and one-half billion in raw materials and tools supplied by Marshall plan countries, which came from the U. S. in violation of Marshall plan agreements.

It was not until December, 1950, the congressman points out, that the state department got around to plugging the Marshall Plan leaks to the Soviet Union. This is not meant to imply that the state department was not aware long before this that the illegal pipeline to Russia was full. The only conclusion is that the state department wanted it that way.

Russia, of course, got vast quantities of industrial equipment from Germany and China, all turned over to her by the boneheads running American foreign policy after the year 1945. Naturally, in Germany, the bright economic planners who are spending our tax dollars immediately set about rebuilding all the plants and machines that were dismantled and sent to Russia. In China, if the Communists had shown little patience and stayed out of the Korean war, it is a virtual certainty that the state department and the economic planners would have found a way to replace all the stuff Russia stole there.

Right now President Truman is beating the drums about the need for rearming against the Russian threat. Secretary of State Acheson looks brave and noble as he faces the Soviet hordes. Presidential adviser W. Averell Harriman is a bulwark of blustering confidence against the onrush of Russian armed might.

What the boys ought to do is retire to the back room. In November, 1947, President Truman said he saw no reason to halt shipments of industrial equipment to Soviet Russia. Yet in fact, he gave a green light that year to shipments to Russia from the U. S. amounting to $432,000,000.

Harriman, roving ambassador under the Marshall Plan, in 1948 told Congress that he would have nothing to do with an embargo of goods to iron curtain countries. Acheson, who wants to run everything, including Gen. Douglas MacArthur's military campaign in Korea, sat stern and impeccable during 1950 while Italy shipped $26,897,000 worth of Marshall Plan goods to iron curtain countries: France, $18,694,000; and Belgium, $19,603,000. The British, doing what comes naturally, handed over $42,532,000 worth of war machinery to Russia and her satellites during the same year.

All of these transactions took place during the time when U. S. officials, from the president on down, were beating their breasts about what bad boys there are in the Soviet politburo. We were told that for all intents and purposes we were at war with Russia. Winston Churchill labeled it the "cold war" period, but British forces kept pouring out some pretty hot stuff for the foe.

So long as we keep such geniuses at work as those who are now running the country, we can expect little else. With all the intelligence services of the free world at their disposal, no one in or close to the White House had

By Erich Brandeis

Just so that there may be no misunderstanding among my readers, I want to put myself on record: I am against sin. In that respect I fully agree with the late Calvin Coolidge.

But there is something I hate even more than sin. That is hypocrisy.

We have police to watch for and catch burglars.

But we have no police to catch hypocrites.

We have courts to try embezzlers.

We have prisons to which to send them.

But we have no courts, no prisons for hypocrites.

The hypocrite usually wears a shining halo of goodness and godliness. He proclaims his righteousness at all times.

The German word for "hypocritical" is very fitting. It is "scheinheilig"—"sham-holy" in free translation. Let me give you an instance of this "sham-holiness"—taken from current happenings in my own State, Connecticut.

Some time ago raffish and all kinds of games of chance were declared illegal by the Connecticut Legislature.

These games, often crooked, were going on all over the State at bazars given as "benefits" by various fraternal groups, volunteer firemen's organizations and others.

The gambling concessions were usually given to out-of-state "professionals" who went from town to town and state to state and, as a rule, got more out of case quashed" . . . "The Communist Trail in America" (by Jacob Spolansky) will be the next book nailing the Scoundrels. . . Insiders whisper that the new Dewey Crime Comm. may backfire. Over an $8,000 graft item into someone's jeans at Albany, Inc. Allegedly paid by men under fire in the crime hearings. . . Amazing, isn't it, that Washington picks on the Costellos for not telling the truth and on columnists for doing so.

Well! The common man is as much entitled as the rich man to be puzzled over what grand opera is all about. It is really a share-the-shrieks movement. It will bring the yawn within the reach of all.

Some new routines will be necessary, of course. The puppet with a Milan background, the dragon that has everything Caruso had, and perhaps a ventriloquist's dummy discovered by Schumann-Heink are possibilities on your television screen. And we anticipate a terrific hit by the first tenor to sing Puccini in a first-name to Hopalong. Tristan with a seltzer bottle is something we wanna see. We have a few hot ideas for Mr. Bing if he expects grand opera to wow the video audience. First of all there will have to be a Barber of Seville who whistles through his teeth, lets his pants fall off whenever the scrip needs more laughs and doesn't object to a trained dog act in the show somewhere.

Our idea, wishing for something sure-fire, would be to have an opera preceded by a master of ceremonies and a male quartette singing:

I change the oil, I check the brakes,
I give the motor what it takes;
I put two quarts of water in. . .
It all comes with the Lohengrin!

Nobody on video has the audience of Milton Berle. Grand opera would do well to study him. The treader in Carmen might establish himself swiftly by immediately declaring, "I feel fine. . . I really do. . . I hope my mother is out there tonight." Nobody can tell us that opera wouldn't be helped by an introduction, "And now, folks, that truly wonderful personality, that really talented star, that wonderful celebrity who is tops in his line, Giuseppe Verdi! Give the little boy a big hand."

Only one thing really worries us. Should the icebox commercial come before the treader's song or after?

One of the country's most publicized figures in the mobster exposures announced the other day that he had bought into a chain of drugstores and would take an active part. The idea fascinates us. We have often complained of the lack of dice while waiting for a banana split. Shudda Had-dim is never so outraged as when he has to wait for a prescription to be filled, with no racing returns. Ever so many people would like a roulette wheel between the hair tonic and lunch counters.

A Washington bureau thinks steak should be classified as a luxury, and a luxury tax imposed. Why not? We know a fellow who boasts that he just bought his wife a coat of semi-precious steers.

If we ever have a unionized police force we will, of course, encounter the man who will refuse to be arrested by anybody but a union cop.

It is now possible to make clothing from sand. We trust Mr. DiSalle will swiftly put a ceiling on dirt.

Vanishing Americans: "I'll take the whole ham." "Put two eggs in that sandwich, mom." "He doesn't get much money but he dresses well." "It's awfully dull staying home nights." "I gave you a quarter for that bus trip; where's the twenty cents change?"

The mahogany tree has been known to Europeans since about 1500, shortly after the discovery of America.

Reader suggests elderberry and peppermint to get rid of those sniffles. Sounds suspiciously like a cure-all cocktail.

Hotel Display Opens Today At Manor

All Resort Operators May Attend

Pocono Manor — Pocono Mountains Vacation Bureau's second annual hotel show featuring a colorful array of 91 booths set up by purveyors to hotels and restaurants in this region opens at 11 a. m. today in connection with the second session of resort section of Pennsylvania Hotel association.

Every taproom, tavern, restaurant and hotel operator in Monroe, Pike, Wayne, Northampton, Carbon, Luzerne, Lackawanna and other regional counties is invited to attend the hotel display which will be open to public inspection the next two days at Pocono Manor Inn.

Everything from floor coverings to food used in hotel, restaurant and tavern operations will be set up in colorful booths. Many of the latest gadgets and designs of hotel equipment will be making their debut at the show.

Annual meeting and luncheon of Pocono Mountains Vacation Bureau will be held at noon Wednesday with the annual dinner for members and their ladies Wednesday night. Both of these meetings will be held at Pocono Manor Inn.

Yesterday, Pennsylvania Hotel association members, representing about 60 resort establishments throughout Pennsylvania, were welcomed at opening sessions in the Inn at Buck Hill Falls by Edward C. Jenkins, president of Vacation Bureau, and Clifford R. Gilliam, president of Buck Hill Falls Co. and immediate past president of resort section of American Hotel association.

Speakers at opening session dealt with legislative, tax and other fiscal matters. They included J. W. Cole, president of PHA; J. A. Johnston, chairman legislation and Paul C. Moomaw, director interstate tax bureau.

Irvin Shinnen, operator of Onawa lodge, was host to PHA members at luncheon. An afternoon panel held there yesterday featured discussions on hotel training and personnel problems by Esther A. Atkinson, State College hotel school; R. T. Stoner, Department of Public Instruction; Howard V. Meeker, Cornell hotel school.

A travel session panel was held yesterday afternoon. Reception was held for members at Skytop last night. Another panel on resort advertising will be held this morning at Pocono Manor.

Grand Jury Returns True Bills Against Five On Charge Involving East Stroudsburg Girl

Easton — Northampton county's April term grand jury late yesterday returned a true bill against four young men from Philadelphia and an East Stroudsburg juvenile, all of whom are charged with common law rape by Pennsylvania State police of the Bethlehem barracks.

The case was added to the court's criminal list immediately, and it is expected that the trial will commence at 9:30 a. m. Thursday.

In addition to the East Stroudsburg juvenile, whose case has been certified to the court of quarter sessions, the defendants are Joseph Rafter, Joseph Jones and Thomas Sines, each 23 years of age, and Peter Critikos, 22.

Rafter and Critikos were students at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College.

The charges against the five followed an intensive investigation

by State police, after the parents of a 16-year-old East Stroudsburg girl filed a complaint with Officers Edward M. Harlow and Donald J. Quick, of East Stroudsburg.

The case was turned over to Northampton county authorities, however, after it was ascertained, upon which the complaint was based, had occurred not in Monroe county but near Stateford in Northampton county.

Assistant District Attorney Elias Spengler, of Bath, who will prosecute for the Commonwealth, said last night that all five defendants were charged with common law rape in the indictment which went to the grand jury.

He added, however, that the parts played by Critikos and the juvenile in the alleged offense would make them appear as accessories only, although the full charge has been preferred.

Jones, owner and driver of a car which carried the defendants and the girl from East Stroudsburg to Delaware, N. J., and back to the scene of the alleged offense, had originally been charged with sodomy as well as rape.

The assistant district attorney said last night, however, that the sodomy count has been dismissed. When first taken into custody, Jones was charged with assault and battery as well.

The grand jury considered the rape case yesterday after receiving instructions from President Judge William G. Barthold. They deliberated for several hours, then returned true bills against all five defendants.

It was indicated at least two East Stroudsburg clergymen, a physician and police will appear to testify at the trial next Thursday.

Physiotherapy Room Sought For Hospital

The Monroe County Crippled Children's association met last night to take stock of assets and to launch plans to use those assets for the benefits of Monroe county's crippled children and adults.

With Alexander Bensinger, vice president, presiding, a committee was appointed to confer with the board of the General hospital at its next meeting to consider possibility of a physiotherapy room at the hospital.

Dr. Harold Pond discussed with the group treatment of cerebral palsy in children and adults and a committee was appointed to visit the Bethlehem clinic.

The local diagnostic clinic will be held in the state clinic rooms, Sarah St., on Monday, April 16.

Proceeds from this year's Easter seal campaign amount to about $1800 at present, it was announced.

Present for the meeting were Mrs. Olaf Pedersen, D. W. Frankendorf, Mrs. William Glebe, Mrs. Bennett Strait, Arthur Helmes, Mrs. Roman Batory, Mrs. John Rumsey, Mrs. John Mott, Mrs. Walter Dreher, Mrs. William Webb, Nelson Westbrook, Mr. Bensinger, and Harry Albert, at whose office the meeting was held.

Chemistry Of Health Theme At Woman's Club Meeting

Dr. Irene Case Namurs, food and nutrition chairman of the New York Federation of Women's clubs, in speaking yesterday at the meeting of the Woman's club said that in her opinion very few of the degenerative diseases, the aches and pains that beset the older years, could not be traced to an improper balance of proteins and alkalines in the diet.

Dr. Namurs, a bio-chemist who has had wide experience both here and abroad, stressed the great differences in the chemistry of individuals, and of their propensity to select from the same food more of the carbon, the protein, and moisture, or the fat according to their chemical and physical makeup.

The problem of too much weight, she said, is to condense the amount of flesh without losing the energy-giving, tissue-building food necessary for health. Too often, she said, people reverse the proportion of two thirds alkaline food to one third starch and protein.

She outlined the fruits and vegetables which provide the chemical elements needed by the body, not only for health but also for changing the starches and proteins into energy rather than excess flesh, and gave a number of combinations of juices which would help correct health conditions.

She was introduced by Mrs. Walter Caulfield, program chairman, and her talk was vigorous and detailed.

Mrs. Eugene Martin, president, presided at the business meeting when Mrs. LeRoy J. Koehler gave the report of the nominating committee which also included Mrs. Howard Eckert and Mrs. Clifford Heller.

The slate of officers which will be voted upon at the May meeting is as follows: President, Mrs. George T. Robinson; first vice president, Mrs. Walter H. Caulfield; second vice president, Mrs. Parke Kunkle; third vice president, Mrs. Leo Dornbos; recording secretary, Mrs. Frank H. French; assistant recording secretary, Mrs. Harold Eaton; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Frank Grimm; treasurer, Mrs. Claude D. Cramer; Directors, Mrs. Eugene H. Martin, Mrs. W. Dolby Palmer and Mrs. Floyd Bachman.

Mrs. Martin named Mrs. Howard Eckert and Mrs. Will Kraemer as an auditing committee, and announced that reservations for the club history booklets must be made with Mrs. W. H. Caulfield by April 14.

Mrs. Martin paid tribute to the late Mrs. C. B. Keller, one of the charter members of the club, who died last week.

Miss Miriam Lark requested the members again to dress dolls for the Salvation Army to use in their Christmas gifts for the children of the county. The club last year dressed and presented 50 dolls for the use of the Salvation Army.

Invitations from the Barrett Woman's club to attend their program on Floral Arrangement on April 13, and from the Monroe County Federation to its spring convention on April 19, both to be held at the Inn at Buck Hill Falls, were announced. Mrs. J. E. Arnold, program chairman for the county meeting, announced details of the program.

Mrs. Martin, in reporting on the state recommendation urging greater efforts toward mental health of children, called attention to the newly-established Monroe-Northampton Child Guidance clinic.

Following the meeting, refreshments were served with Mrs. LeRoy Mikels and Mrs. Merle C. Ostrom presiding at the tea table, sunny with yellow candles and daffodils in a blue cornucopia. Mrs. Fred L. Scheller and Mrs. Edward S. Stevens were co-hostesses with Mrs. Mikels. Also on the committee were Mrs. Harvey Blair, Mrs. Harold Eaton, Mrs. George Goli, and Mrs. Harry Hintze.

Church Offices To Be Filled At Congregation

A special congregational meeting has been called by the session of the First Presbyterian church of Stroudsburg, for Wednesday night, April 11, at 7 in the church school auditorium. The congregation recently voted to increase membership on both the session and the board of deacons from nine to twelve members.

At the meeting on Wednesday night, three new elders will be elected to the session, three new deacons to the board of deacons, and the proposal to form a board of deaconesses will be voted upon.

The congregational meeting will be preceded by the family night supper at 6:15. Reservations for the supper should be made by noon today.

Foster Minnich To Speak To GOP Council

Foster Minnich will be the guest speaker at the meeting of the Monroe Council of Republican Women at their meeting on Wednesday afternoon at 2:30. His topic will be "What Will Your Benefits Be Under Social Security?"

He will explain coordinating life insurance and social security as well as survivor and retirement benefits.

There will also be the showing of a film on cancer. Mrs. Clifford Heller is the program chairman for the April meeting, and Mrs. Rodger Kimball is chairman of the hostess committee which also includes Mrs. Ralph Speiser, Mrs. Guy Dean III, Mrs. Carl Wagner, Mrs. Russell Scheller and Mrs. John Lanterman.

State Officers To Attend District Meet

A district meeting of all camps of the Patriotic Order of Americans will be held at Saylorburg camp rooms on Thursday, April 12, when the state president, Mrs. Edna Mulholland, the state officer Kay Raynor, and other officials will be guests.

Mrs. Pearl Towles, president of the district, announced that a school of instruction will be held at the district meeting. At this time two district officers will be elected for the ensuing two years.

Mrs. Mulholland also is planning to attend the anniversary banquet of Stroudsburg camp 289 on April 19. Members planning to attend the banquet, which will be held at Biggs Restaurant, have been asked to make reservations with Miss Flora Garis, Mrs. Jeanette Harris, Mrs. Ethel Gordon or Mrs. Stella Butts.

Portland PTA To Meet On Thursday Night

Portland — The Parent Teachers Association of the Portland school district will meet in the school gymnasium on Thursday night, April 12, at 8. Mrs. Horace Rusling, president, will preside. A representative from the Northampton County Cancer Society will be present and speak. Two films on cancer will be shown after which a question and answer period will follow. A door prize will be awarded as well as an attendance prize. The mothers of the eighth grade will be hostess.

The program consisted of varied assortment of band and classical favorites. The first selection was "Thunderer" by Sousa followed by "Pique Dame" by Van Sapp. Other selections were "Dark Eyes", "Festive", "Bogart" by George, "Fantasy for Three" by Rubinstein, Romanian "Rhapsody" by Enesco, "On the Mail" Goldman, a group of Cole Porter selections, "Rover Jordan" by Revelli "Grass Pageant" by Osling "A Walking Tune" by Grundman "Caribbean Fantasy" by Morrissey "Joshua" by Yoder and "Spirit of Liberty" by Sousa.

Funds raised each year through the band concerts are earmarked for the purchase of instruments and equipment for the Portland School band.

At the conclusion of the concert Mr. Courtney expressed appreciation to the band, to Mr. Weidmeyer, to the Lions club of which Bert Transue is president and to all who helped make the concert a huge success.

Public Invited To Fashion Show At College Today

The big spring fashion show, sponsored by the Woman's Recreation association at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College, will be held tonight at the college auditorium at 8 p. m.

Open to the public without charge, the fashion show will present spring and summer highlights from eleven local stores, using more than 28 models from the college student body.

There will also be vocal and instrumental music during the intermission featuring Miss Vivian Amhurst, vocalist, and Miss Jenene Zugel, pianist, both of whom are Stroudsburg girls.

Cootiettes Ward Party For Patients

The Pocono Cootiettes have a new conception of life in a veterans' hospital after their visit to the new Wilkes-Barre Veterans' hospital where they gave a ward party for the servicemen on Sunday night.

A bus-load of 32 members made the trip, taking with them gifts, arranged by the welfare chairman, Mrs. Georgia Albertson, and entertainment for the patients.

From the solid glass doors, through the sound-proofed rooms, the chapel and the recreational room where they held their program, the members found the modern hospital, set high on a hill, a thrilling experience.

Jack Jennings, driver of the bus, was pressed into service as a soloist. Dorothy Albertson, drum major with the Legion Band, gave a twirling exhibition in costume, and Mrs. Stella Metzgar, pianist, contributed to the program.

Four members of the Cootiettes gave a pantomime, Betty Dietrick, Betty Epright, Olive Paul and Betty Staples, and one of the patients sang a number of solos. The entertainment, together with the gifts which the women presented, made a memorable party for both the men and the members of the local lodge.

—By Bobby Westbrook

With big social stories breaking like firecrackers on an old-fashioned Fourth of July, you had to step lively just to stay out of the way. But nobody was stepping lively yesterday. Everybody lingered in the doorways, reluctant to miss a moment of the soft spring enchantment.

Once inside the Woman's club, however, you stopped begrudging Dr. Namurs certainly could present a technical subject with verve and gusto—and last night everybody was asking "What did she say to drink if you couldn't stand noise?" or "If you felt the cold?" Well, the last one was raw egg yolk and blackberry juice, that I remember. And I think the one about the noise was orange juice and egg yolk, with pineapple and carrot juice for adolescent plumpies, and celery and grapefruit juice for forestall hardening of the arteries.

But of course that's the danger of just listing recipes for their contexts because there was a lot more to it than that Chemistry, especially, but who could believe you could make chemistry amusing?

But every meeting was full of excitement last night. The East Stroudsburg band mothers were more excited over giving the band its trip to New York than the kids will be, probably; the Ann Logans were talking a mile a minute about the new kitchen and almost forgot what they were sewing on.

The Crippled Children's association was all enthusiastic about a number of new developments. Talk about chemistry—the alchemy of going without coats and having the rain do no more than drip a few drops and of having all the windows opened—somehow combined to make the adrenal glands work overtime. Anyway, everybody was zooming, stepping as high as the kids do when they first take off on their roller skates.

Band Mothers To Finance New York Trip

The members of East Stroudsburg High school's championship band will have a trip to New York this spring as the guests of the Band Mothers of the school who raised enough money to finance the trip.

Decision to sponsor the trip was made last night at the meeting of the Band Mothers at the high school with Mrs. Robert Hartman presiding. The group decided to put the rest of the money they had raised into a bond to be saved against the time when new uniforms will be needed.

A vote of appreciation was given to Mrs. John Anderson, chairman of the finance committee, which planned the projects for the year. Clement Wiedmeyer, band director, expressed his appreciation to the group for their backing. He was presented with a cookie jar full of cookies.

A nominating committee consisting of Mrs. W. G. Moore, Mrs. Clifford Lambert and Mrs. Pearl Wertheimer was named to report at the May meeting.

The May meeting will feature the annual Mother's day program with the band to play for the mothers, and the mothers in turn to treat the band.

Mrs. Helen Grooms, Mrs. Austin Fisher, Mrs. Earl Metzgar, Mrs. Janet Smith, Mrs. Leonard Sadler, Mrs. Harold Stanlake, Mrs. Eugene Shafer, Mrs. Arthur Gordon and Mrs. Ralph Lesoine will form the committee in charge.

POS Of A To Conduct Essay Contest In High Schools

Patriotic Order Sons of America camps in the Monroe county area are sponsoring a High school essay contest among the schools of the county. It was announced yesterday.

Total of $170 in prizes is offered to a group of students who write the best 400 to 500-word compositions on "What America Means to Me."

John C. Litts, county superintendent of schools, and Walter H. Sebring, assistant superintendent, said yesterday that contests at the respective High schools are now under way. Each school's first place essay will be forwarded to the county education office on or before April 27 for final county-wide judging, they said.

A committee of three, to be selected from prominent lay and professional persons, will select four of the eight submitted for county-wide prizes. First prize will be $20, second will be $15; third, $10, and fourth, $5.

In addition, the winning essays at each school will be given a $10 first place prize after the judging by the high school principal and a faculty committee. Second-place winners at each school will receive a $5 prize, although these will not be forwarded for county level judging.

Both school and county level prizes will be awarded during the graduation or award day programs at the respective schools, the superintendent explained.

The presentations will be made by a representative of the POS of A camp nearest to the school at which the award or awards will be made, they said.

Eight camps are sponsoring the essay contest. They include the seven situated within Monroe county and the Bushkill camp at the Pike county line.

Pension Law Covers Home, Farm Labor

Joseph T. McDonald, collector of internal revenue, yesterday reminded farm and household employers in this region that they must report wages and pay Federal social security taxes on those farm and household employees who were brought into the old age and survivors insurance system Jan. 1, 1951.

Whether a farm or household employee's wages are subject to the taxes depends on the number of days worked for the employer and the amount of cash earnings.

The Federal social security tax and information return for the quarterly period of January-February-March is due on or before April 30, 1951, together with payment of the taxes.

The farmer makes a return reporting cash wages paid to each employee who meets all three of these tests: He was employed continuously throughout the quarterly period October, November, December, 1950, and he was employed in agricultural labor on a full-time basis for at least 60 days in quarterly period beginning January, 1951, and his cash earnings are $50 or more. Same test applies to household workers on a farm operated for profit.

A different test applies to household workers in homes other than farms operated for profit. Returns must be made for an employee who earned $50 or more during the quarter beginning January, 1951 and who performed such duties on 24 or more different days in that quarter or 24 different days in the quarter starting October, 1950.

Mrs. A. Plonka of 3202 S. Aberdeen, Chicago, Ill.: "My daughter Carmelita, who is 10 years old and in the fifth grade, had always been underweight and I had to positively force her to eat. She had no interest in food whatsoever, but I knew that she had to eat. When we were visiting my mother in Missouri over the Christmas holidays, she suggested I give Carmelita HADACOL. I bought a large bottle of it that same day and was amazed at the change in Carmelita. Her appetite picked right up and she now eats three hearty meals a day plus in-between snacks. I have really praised HADACOL, and highly recommend it."

C. E. Moncus, 221 Columbus St., Montgomery, Ala.: "Quite some time ago I began to have indigestion and sour stomach. My food just didn't digest right. I'd get a full, 'gassy' feeling after I ate. This affected my appetite and my weight. I was run-down, too. My wife started taking HADACOL and so did my daughter. I saw how much it had helped them, so I started taking it. And HADACOL has certainly helped me, too. My stomach never bothers me any more. I have a terrific appetite and have gained weight. I have lots of energy and just feel good in every way. I think HADACOL is wonderful. I wish I could tell everyone just how wonderful it really is."

Mrs. W. O. Jones, 7344 N. Bell St., Chicago, Ill.: "I am a housewife and mother of three children. I had been feeling very run-down, would tire so easily, and just felt listless. My mother-in-law suggested I take HADACOL, as she had heard of it through friends of hers. I just took it for a few days, when I noticed I was feeling stronger and seemed to have more energy. I continued taking HADACOL and it has certainly built up my strength. I am no longer run-down, don't tire nearly as much. I am now on my sixth large bottle of HADACOL, and intend to continue taking it."

William J. Danlap, 4404 Freer St., Apt. 2, Detroit, Mich.: "Along with the pains I suffered my body had a tired, worn-out feeling. I had to force myself to keep going. I read about HADACOL and decided to give it a try. Am now on my fifth bottle and would not be without an ample supply. My first bottle gave me astonishing relief, and at this time of writing I feel better, without a pain or ache. Am a dairy employee, 54 years old. Veteran of two world wars. Active overseas in both. I have given your HADACOL every praise to friends and relatives and know some are using it with just as astonishing results as I myself have found."

Life of Riley

By JIM RILEY
Sports Editor

Stroudsburg High school's football team may or may not win more than last season's club, but it is certain that the 1952 Mountaineers will cut a fancy figure on the gridiron, as the W. Main St. school just purchased new maroon pants for the next grid campaign. This means that the Stroudsburg grid machine will be maroon from top to bottom and the fact that new pants have been purchased should put to an end the old cry about dressing up the club which has been heard in this area during the past two seasons.

Johnny Hughes, from Mountain Top, scored 480 points in 30 games for Fairview Township High school during the past season, as Coach Doug Schoonover's cagers won 14 and lost 16 contests. Hughes attended the Little League banquet in East Stroudsburg last night, along with his coach, the latter a resident of Stroudsburg and a graduate of Stroudsburg High and East Stroudsburg State Teachers College. Joe Peel, former football mentor at Stroudsburg High, is coaching track and wrestling at Wilkes-Barre Coughlin, but only recently received his recall to the air corps.

Bob Becker, coach of Kingston Township High, number one basketball team in the Back Mountain League during the past season is also a graduate of ESSTC. Kingston Township defeated Harder for the league title in a special playoff, but Fairview included both clubs among its list of victims during the past campaign. Bill Schmidt and Jack McAndrews' presence on the ESSTC tennis team gives Coach Frank Grimm two pretty fair basketball players on his squad. When the word "net" is mentioned, here are two fellows who will be Johnny-on-the-spot.

The fifth place finish of the Central Labor Union bowling team in the Delaware Valley league this season is the lowest for the East Stroudsburg team since it entered the circuit. However, all have hopes of regaining the number one spot, a position the local aggregation has held almost annually since joining the fast kegling league. Bowling banquets are now in vogue. Applications for the Stroudsburg High basketball coaching position are piling high, but no official action has been taken on any of the documents, at least so I've been told.

Harry Schaeffer, pitcher with the Stroudsburg Poconos in 1946 and 1947, hurled three innings against the New York Yankees for Beaumont, of the class "AA" Texas league, on Saturday. Although Beaumont lost, 3-2, Schaeffer kept the Yanks away from the plate during his tour of duty. Although Pocono A.C. hasn't declared an official practice season as yet, John Drew, Clint Resecker and Don Sweda held their first drill of the season on Sunday.

Chet Krajewski, third baseman with the Poconos last season, blasted a home run and double while holding down the same position for Terra Haute, of the class "B" Three I league, against Hartford, of the class "A" Eastern league, during an exhibition contest at Myrtle Beach, S. C. The double was to deep left field and the circuit bow cleared the distant fence in the same locality.

Krajewski led the North Atlantic league in circuit blows last season, but also set a mark in strikeouts. However, if the likeable young slugger learns to hit a curve and stays clear of bad pitches, Krajewski is definitely major league material, with a rifle-like arm and alert fielding ability. Chet was sold to the Phillies along with Sam Warner and Bill Pope. All three reported to Wilmington, of the Inter-State league, but at least Krajewski was shipped to another club, of equal status, in the Philadelphia farm system.

Doug Holcomb, University of Scranton basketball coach and publicity director, is scheduled to be married in June. Reports making the rounds for the past couple of weeks indicate that the cage mentor is on the verge of launching a radio career. The firing of the Mt. St. Mary's basketball coach the other day, as mentioned on this page yesterday, may have its local implications before the autumn term of school begins. WVPO begins to broadcast the New York Yankees' game today, and will continue to handle action over the Network of Champions throughout the summer months.

George Condrick was the losing pitcher the other day when Allentown took the measure of Winston Salem in an exhibition contest, 4-4. J. C. Dunn, former centerfielder for Lebanon, North Atlantic league held down second base for the losing team, while Frank Porreca, also a former Lebanon star, and Johnny Penczak, formerly of Peckskill, also of the North Atlantic league, played first and third base respectively for Allentown. Condrick pitched for two years with the Poconos.

School Official Praises Work Of Little Leagues

A total of 150 people, half of them youngsters between eight and 12 years of age, heard Walter Sebring, assistant county superintendent of schools, praise baseball to the limit last night at the Little League banquet staged by the Exchange club at the East Stroudsburg Presbyterian church.

Sebring warned that the baseball field is the proving ground of the nation, mentioning the manner in which baseball has helped the people of this country.

The former local diamond star praised the Little League movement and the wonderful job it is doing throughout the county with the growing boys of today.

Sebring told several humorous stories and also several happenings on the baseball fields of this area in past years.

Following Sebring's address the 1951 Little League film was shown to the group.

In Charge
Henry Evans, club president, was in charge of the meeting, while C. A. "Phiz" Nauman introduced the speaker and Gordon Coy announced the film.

Roger Dunning led group singing and guests were introduced following a chicken dinner, prepared by the ladies of the church.

The banquet was held to create interest in the Little League activity for the coming season and the dinner was financed by a three-game all-star series last year, between Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg teams.

All boys from the East Stroudsburg Little League were invited, while members of the Stroudsburg all-star team were also on hand.

Senators End Losing Streak
Winston Salem, N. C. (AP)—Conrado Marrero pitched the Washington Senators out of a five-game losing streak yesterday as he set the Cincinnati Reds down with only two hits for a 2 to 1 victory.

The curve-balling Cuban right-hander gave up a run in the first on two walks, a wild pitch and a long fly and after that the Reds never got a man past first base. Marrero struck out nine.

Good Pitching
Marrero had to be good, though. Ken Raffensberger, veteran Cincinnati southpaw, allowed only five hits in the tight battle. Rookie Gen Verble's double to right center scored Washington's two runs in the seventh and ended a string of 17 consecutive scoreless innings for Raffensberger.

Campanella Paces Brooklyn Attack
Asheville, N. C. (AP)—Roy Campanella hit two long homers and batted in two more runs with an infield hit as the Dodgers came from behind to beat the Asheville Tourists, 9-8, before a record crowd of 6,579 yesterday.

Jackie Robinson, who was banished from the game by umpire Frank Dascoli, and Gil Hodges also connected for the circuit.

Rex Barney started for Brooklyn and walked 11 men before he was derelicted with one out in the third inning.

DiMaggio Ready For Opener
Dallas, (AP)—The Yankee Clipper said yesterday he is ready to start the American league season with full sails.

"Tell the Yankee fans not to worry about me," said Joe DiMaggio, the key player of the world champion New York Yankees. "I will do my part."

Satisfied
The 36-year-old outfielder was very satisfied with his training to date. Sunday he belted his fourth homer and two singles, and yesterday, against the Boston Braves, he got two singles in four trips and knocked in two runs. His Grapefruit league average now is over the .380 mark.

The Yankee Clipper said he thought the pennant race would be a four-way scramble among the Yankees, Boston, Cleveland and Detroit. Naturally, he thought the Yanks would cop.

"We will win again because of our reserve strength," said Joe.

Late Rally Saves Battle For Chiefs

A terrific last period rush carried Ray's Chiefs into third place in the final standings of the Junior Gold Medal tournament last night, as the Chiefs accounted for a 61-51 victory over Tobyhanna Township High school, on the Monroe County YMCA court.

Both teams battled to an 18-18 deadlock in the first period, but the High school contingent reached the halfway mark on the long end of a 29-27 count, by virtue of an 11-9 advantage during the second period.

It appeared as if TTHS had the game in the bag at the three-quarter mark, holding a 47-41 advantage, after dominating the third period, 13-14.

However, Ray's Chiefs really went on the warpath during the final eight minutes, racking up 20 points to only four for the TTHS contingent. The last ditch rally was enough to capture the coveted victory.

Tom Bonser was the big gun for winning aggregation, racking up 23 points, while Bob Miller, with 14 tallies, was the big gun for TTHS. The final tournament standings featured Twin Boroughs in first place, Warriors second and Ray's Chiefs third.

Cubs Decision Little Rock

Little Rock, Ark. (AP)—The Chicago Cubs, behind the five hit pitching of Omar Lown, defeated the Little Rock Travelers of the Southern association, 6-1, today. It was the Cubs' sixteenth exhibition win against nine losses.

Space Hits
Lown, 27-year-old rookie from Montreal, spaced the five hits over eight innings. Bob Kelly pitched the ninth for the Chicagoans.

The Cubs made four of the runs off "Dutch" McCall, former Cub lefty—one on Hal Jeffcoat's theft of home in the fourth inning and three on Hank Sauer's number eight homer in the fifth.

Pirates' Official Marries
Washington (AP)—J. Fred Hering, baseball farm club executive of the Pittsburgh Pirates, was married to Margaret G. Mathieson of Washington yesterday in a small private ceremony.

East Bangor Schedules First Practice Session For Weekend
East Bangor—East Bangor's entry in the Blue Mountain league is hopeful of holding its first official practice this weekend, it was announced last night by Don Lang, secretary of the organization, following a business meeting of the Community association last night, at the Town Hall.

Help
All interested parties are asked to help fix the field for the coming campaign tonight, with the work beginning at 5. The infield must be repaired so that it can be rolled before the weekend.

The usual business was transacted at last night's meeting, with a special gathering scheduled for Monday, April 30.

President Victor Saveri was in charge of last night's meeting.

Chisox Run Wild
Chattanooga, Tenn. (AP)—The Chicago White Sox clubbed the team of their old manager, Jack Onslow, for a 15-4 decision before 1,018 fans yesterday. The rout of the Chattanooga Lookouts marked the Pale Hose' twenty-first win in 28 exhibition starts.

Giants Blast Indians
Pine Bluff, Ark. (AP)—The New York Giants, paced by Whitey Lockman's two home runs, ripped the Cleveland Indians, 16 to 4, yesterday before an estimated 4,000 fans.

Diamond Expert Picks Yanks To Repeat In American Loop

New York, (AP)—For the past four years the Boston Red Sox were the team to beat for the American league flag. And that's what happened—they got beat.

This year is no exception. The power-laden Red Sox, perennial March champions, again shape up as the team to beat. And they probably will get beat again.

Who will beat them this time? Why, the club that has done it three of the four years—the world champion New York Yankees.

Yes, it looks to this writer as if the Bronx Bombers will win their third straight pennant.

The Red Soxers, because of their almost unbeatable habits at home and their marked improvement in pitching, should live up to their name as the best second place team in baseball history.

Cleveland's vastly improved Indians, boasting perhaps the best hurling corps in the circuit, should move up a notch to third. Chicago's young, hustling White Sox can prove the "sleeper" club and slip into the first division ahead of the diluted Detroit Tigers.

Washington easily is the best of the rest with St. Louis and Philadelphia holding up the rear.

This may be the order of the finish:

One—New York. Two—Boston. Three—Cleveland. Four—Chicago. Five—Detroit. Six—Washington. Seven—St. Louis and Eight—Philadelphia.

It's foolhardy to bet against the Yankees when the chips are down. Even those critics who have called them "lucky" cannot deny that, they somehow manage to win the big ones, never fold in the clutch.

Spirit
Call it luck if you will, but the Yankees also have with it the spirit, savvy, hustle, will to win, and most important, a bunch of darn good ball players. Where can there be found better players at their respective positions than Phil Rizzuto, Joe DiMaggio, "Toji" Berra and Gerry Coleman? That doesn't take in outfielder Hank Bauer, who is one of the coming stars of baseball. And in Vic Raschi, Allie Reynolds, and Ed Lopat, the Yankees possess three of the game's really fine pitchers.

The Yankees also have the uncanny knack of coming up with just the right replacement needed to insure the pennant. In 1947 it was Frank Shea who filled the shoes of Spud Chandler. In 1949 it was Coleman who replaced George Stinnett. Last year it was the sensational Eddie Ford who stepped in when Tommy Byrne wilted and copped nine of ten decisions.

Ford is now in the service. Gone also is Bobby Brown, the fine-hitting third baseman. That left two glaring gaps. So what do the "lucky" Yankees do but uncover three of the most promising rookies seen in many a year. Three young men named Mickey Mantle, Gil McDougald and Tom Morgan.

Property
The three aren't even on the Yankee roster. But they will be, any day now. They currently are the property of Yankee farm clubs.

The Red Sox, habitually slow starts, again may get off on the wrong foot. The team is the same except for Lou Boudreau, the ex-Indian manager, at short.

The pitching is much stronger as a result of the acquisition of Bill Wight and Ray Scarborough from the White Sox and Harry Taylor from St. Paul.

Others
Also nominated were Dr. Barry J. Barredale, of Houma, La., as olympic manager and William J. Downing of Boston, assistant manager.

The committee also decided to conduct trials for the olympic team next year in the same manner as in 1948.

Eight sectional AAU teams will compete in the finals along with Army and Navy teams and NCAA champions at a site to be selected, probably in June (1952).

Boxing Coaches Nominated
Boston (AP)—Pete Mello, boxing tutor for the New York CYO, and J. T. Owen, who coaches the sport at Louisiana State University last night were nominated to coach the 1952 U.S. Olympic team.

Their nomination, by the Olympic Boxing committee, must be approved by the entire olympic committee.

Adelman, Rice Also Among Honored Group

Tom Bonser, high scoring forward for Ray's Chiefs, was named the outstanding performer of the Junior Gold Medal Basketball tournament just completed at the Monroe County YMCA, following a meeting of the committee last night.

Al Adelman, hard playing center for Twin Boroughs was named second best, while Bob Rice, also of Twin Boroughs, was named the third most outstanding player in the tournament.

The all-tournament team was composed of eight players, allowing three substitutes.

Names
In addition to Bonser, Adelman and Rice, the all-star contingent included Bill Fahringer, Leo Dailey, Donald "Buddy" Judge, Dave Everett and Norman Lewis.

Lewis and Judge played for Tobyhanna Township High school, while Fahringer was center for the Warriors and Everett forward for Twin Boroughs. Dailey was a guard with Ray's Chiefs.

Bonser, in addition to being named top player in the tournament, captured all scoring honors, with 23 points in one game and 56 in the tournament.

Judge was named as winner of the good sportsmanship award, for outstanding conduct on the court during the action.

Final standings of the tournament featured Twin Boroughs in first place, Warriors second and Ray's Chiefs third.

Pirates Edge Phillies, 8-7
Montgomery, Ala. (AP)—A four run outburst in the sixth inning helped the Pittsburgh Pirates edge the Philadelphia Phillies 8-7 last night in an exhibition.

Rookie
Rookie pitcher Con Dempsey worked seven innings for the Bucs. He gave up four runs and seven hits.

A rookie Bill Pierre, recalled from the Bucs' farm club training base at Deland, Fla., allowed two hits and three runs.

The Pirates outhit the National League champions 16-9. The Phils had five errors and the Pirates three.

Nagurski, Henry Named Grid Greats

New Brunswick, N. J., (AP) — "Bronco" Nagurski, one of the tackles on the all-time all-American football team, looks as though he could go out and play 60 minutes today.

But Wilbur "Fats" Henry, the other tackle on the dream team which was chosen by the nation's sportswriters and sportscasters, for the Associated Press, seems a long way from his last football game.

The reason is easy: Nagurski is a professional wrestler these days, while Henry has settled down to the relatively calm life of Athletic Director at his alma mater, Washington and Jefferson. Both now will receive consideration for spots in the National Football Hall of Fame.

The great Nagurski — he was so good that he got votes for both tackle and halfback — was surprised when he was told that he was selected as a lineman.

When he was interviewed at the International Falls, Minn., home, he was doing what he likes best — putting around the garden of his home and painting a boat in preparation for the spring season.

"I played only 32 minutes at tackle in Big Ten conference competition," he said, "and I actually liked fullback better. But this is the crowning touch of my career."

Highlight
The highlight of his career at the University of Minnesota came in 1928 when the Gophers were playing Wisconsin.

"We won that one by 6-0 and robbed Wisconsin of the Big Ten championship," chuckled Nag, who was busy keeping an eye on his children, Ronald 14 months, and Janice, 2. "We were crippled and much underrated."

"Bronk", now 42 years old, rates the 1927 Minnesota team as the best of his college days, and said that aggregation could take care of any today.

Henry is like many former linemen—he likes to remember when he scored a touchdown.

"We were playing Westminster in 1917," he said in his Washington, Pa., office of W&J. "I was at right tackle, my usual spot. Westminster lined up in punt formation. I rushed through to block the punt, and darned if I didn't take the ball right off the toe of the kicker. I'll never forget that one."

Henry, now 53, didn't confine his attentions to football at W&J. He was the first student in the school to win four varsity letters. Besides his action on the football field, he was a guard on the basketball team, a catcher in baseball and tossed weights for the track squad.

He played pro football for eight years—1920 through 1928—then returned to W&J where he was given the assignment as varsity basketball coach, frosh football mentor, and assistant track coach. Henry, who had his right leg amputated in 1948 as a result of an infection after suffering from diabetes, now walks with the aid of a wooden leg.

Additional Arrests May Be Made In Connection With Recent Basketball Scandal In New York

New York (AP)—An assistant district attorney said yesterday that basketball players not yet named in the recent series of fix exposures may be brought in for questioning.

William P. Sirignano, assistant district attorney in Manhattan, made the statement outside of court after a hearing of 14 players on bribery charges was postponed until April 14. Sirignano did not elaborate.

Magistrate Henri Schwod set back the hearing of the players, all charged with fixing or attempting fixing of college basketball games.

Investigation

Sirignano told the court that investigation of the activities of the players should be completed by the end of the month. He also said that "our investigation is continuing with respect to other fixers."

Sirignano told the magistrate that a superseding indictment against Salvatore Sollazzo, charged with bribing players to keep the point spread in basketball games within limits favorable to gamblers, was expected soon.

In the Bronx, County Judge James M. Barrett adjourned trial of six men named in indictments charging conspiracy and bribery in connection with Manhattan College games.

Kiner Elected Representative By Players

Cincinnati (AP)—Home-run king Ralph Kiner of the Pittsburgh Pirates has been named player-representative of the National league, it was announced yesterday.

Secretary of baseball Walter Mulberry confirmed Kiner's election by players of the senior loop. Mulberry said Ford Frick, president of the National league, so informed him yesterday.

Follows Marion
The Pittsburgh slugger succeeds Marty Marion of the St. Louis Cardinals, who became ineligible for the job after being elevated to manager of the Redbirds.

Kiner and Freddy Hutchinson, of the Detroit Tigers, will represent the players in matters before the major league club owners.

Spahn Goes Distance As Braves Trip Yankees

Dallas, Texas, (AP)—Although lefty Warren Spahn, who went the distance, yielded 14 hits, the Boston Braves trimmed the New York Yankees, 8-4, yesterday in an exhibition baseball game.

A crowd of 10,250 saw Manager Casey Stengel of the world champions banished from the game in the third inning by Plate Umpire Augie Donatelli for protesting that Gil McDougald had scored before the Yanks were retired on a double play.

Setup
With Joe DiMaggio on first, McDougald on second and one out, Yogi Berra hit to First Baseman Earl Torgeson who stepped on first and tossed to Shortstop Johnny Logan to get DiMaggio at second. Donatelli ruled McDougald had not scored before DiMaggio had been retired.

Veteran Outfielder Sold
Pino Bluff, Ark. (AP)—Roy Weatherly, veteran outfielder, was sold outright by the New York Giants to Minneapolis yesterday.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you. Hotrods Trip Clugstonians In Stroudsburg High Contest

An eight-point advantage in the second quarter and a slim edge in the final round enabled the Hotrods to nip the Clugstonians yesterday afternoon in the Arthur Smickley Memorial Basketball league, 22-20, at Stroudsburg High. The victory enabled the Hotrods to move into the championship battle this afternoon with the Nevewests, for possession of the trophy.

Scoring

The Clugstonians held a 9-4 edge at the end of first period but trailed at halftime, 14-11. Both clubs battled on even terms during the second half, with the Hotrods managing to hold the upper hand.

Atomic Blast Authority To Speak Here

The author of what has been called one of the most important books to describe in vivid detail the effects of the atom bomb, comes to Stroudsburg on Thursday at 6:30 p. m., to speak at the Penn-Stroud hotel under the auspices of the Dutch Treat club.

District Attorney Detlef A. Hansen said yesterday that David Bradley, author of "No Place To Hide," as an Army medical officer was intimately connected with the work of the radiological safety section of Operation Crossroads during the atom bomb experiments at Bikini in 1946. His book is a day-by-day account of the events that took place on that isolated atoll in the Pacific.

Trained for the job in the Manhattan District project, he was one of a score charged with the job of ensuring that no one gets hurt by the invisible "X-rays" of an atomic blast. Faced with the lingering poison of radio activity, which contaminated the air, the ships, the water, the lagoon, these "Geiger men" learned some of the practical aspects of atomic war and the use of the Geiger counters, which Dr. Bradley describes as a "sixth sense, a prerequisite to survival in an atomic age." Dr. Bradley was one of two men chosen to fly in over Bikini lagoon immediately after the blast to determine whether it was safe for others to follow him.

River Seine Lends Unique Charm To Paris, Different From Any Other Large City

By Ruth Haller Ottaway

Paris—On this fine windy day following a March storm which afflicted all France, a stroll on the left bank was pure delight. The River Seine with its quays and many bridges and the left bank lend a unique charm to Paris and a character quite different from any other city. On the left bank students of music and art find cheap lodging, and American youth gone Existentialist grow beards and pseudo-wisdom.

The Seine enters Paris 300 miles from its source, makes an arc and divides the city into two parts. The right bank (two-thirds of the total area) is the great business and residential center where are the main theaters, hotels and shops, and many old palaces. When you have your fill of plays, concerts, galleries and shopping, the left bank offers endless diversions.

Ruth H. Ottaway

Ille de la Cite, an island in the Seine, was the original Paris. Dominating the "Ille" are the famous Cathedral of Notre Dame and the Palais de Justice within the enclosure of which is the 13th century St. Chapelle, a jewel of Gothic architecture.

(We have no wish to become a "seeing-the-city guide" and bore, but to remind you of some of your old haunts beloved in memory, and make you see and feel Paris all over again.)

Always re-impressed and over-awed by Notre Dame, it gives an idea of the age of Paris to know that in the first century there was a pagan temple on the site of Notre Dame. Prayers have been said ceaselessly on this spot down the amazing trail of years and history.

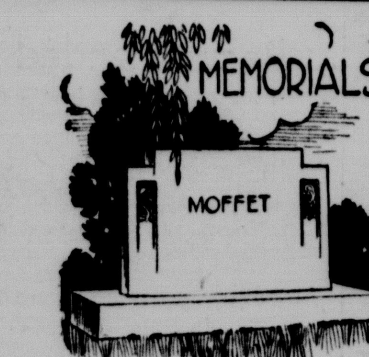

The Institute of France
Near the Quai de Conti, we passed L'Institut de France. This fine old building, dating back to 1665, seems to stand guard over the ages. Within its austere walls are housed five academies famous for their awards in belles lettres, science, Beaux arts, and political science.

The many old palaces in Paris are impregnated with history. We can well believe that the old Palais d'Institut was once used as a "house of detention," delicate nomenclature for "prison." In it, among many others, Dr. Guillotin, deservedly, we should say, was "detained."

The Bridges and Quais
It is great fun to walk along the quays and browse in the out-door book-stalls. We came off triumphant with five large illuminated prints of Gregorian music, etchings, and hunting scenes. The quays and the many uncovered stone bridges of ancient origin offer wonderful vistas of Paris. One strolls in a dream of beauty. Notre Dame rises majestically in the distance and the Dome des Invalides where Napoleon lies in state.

The pastels of old French houses and shops on the opposite shore are lovely to behold. A promenade runs along the river below the diagonal and neatly bricked slope of the embankment. Young students from the Latin Quarter lie on the slanting brick almost in upright position relaxing in the sun and wind. On the edge of the river, the old stand and fish. It all is very leisurely and happy, beguiling one into thinking that war cannot be around the bend.

The Louvre
Leaving the Quai de Conti and L'Institut, we walked across the

Hospital Detains Governor's Wife

Philadelphia (AP) — Mrs. John S. Fine, wife of Pennsylvania's chief executive, has been detained at University of Pennsylvania hospital, and will be kept "under observation" for several weeks, hospital authorities reported yesterday.

She entered the hospital on Saturday for a routine check. About a month ago she underwent an emergency brain operation there.

A hospital spokesman said Dr. Francis C. Grant, chief neurosurgeon, examined Mrs. Fine yesterday and ordered X-rays of the head regions and particularly the teeth.

Old Story, New Twist

Los Angeles, (AP)—Dr. Vernon Bronson Twitchell, 42, was picked up asleep on a neighbor's lawn last night. Police booked him as drunk. Today he pleaded guilty

Pont des Arts which spans the Seine just opposite the Louvre, and entered the tremendous court of the Louvre which circles it for blocks. Thousands of windows in this greatest of French palaces blink down at you from the past. The Kings and Queens and fortresses and dungeons in its fearful history from the 14th century, and now its treasury of the finest art in the world are so overwhelming that you shrink to your actual small size and admit what you already know deep inside, that you are of trivial importance, if of any at all.

You are glad to cross to the Rue de Rivoli, stop at a pharmacie and buy DOP, the only shampoo in the world for the raven tresses of your dear friend at home. It seems so normal. Your mind is cleared of the weight of palaces and prisons, and you wonder if it possibly could be that the DOP you are looking at on the noses of the passing buses means shampoo instead of a destination. Yes, it does, in this ancient and artistic city!

Once ensconced in your velvet French bed, you drowse off, floating with those puffy, soft, columnous clouds above the wind-ripped Seine, and say with Montaigne, "Paris hath my heart."

Military Rites Conducted For Pfc. F. E. Foote

Funeral services for Pfc. Frank Earl Foote Jr., 19-year-old East Stroudsburg youth who died after a fall from a moving weapons carrier at Luzon, Philippine Islands, on February 25, were held yesterday at the Lanterman funeral home, 27 Washington St., East Stroudsburg.

Private Foote, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Foote Sr., now of Bridgeport, Conn., was serving in the Signal Corps at Clark Air base when the fatal accident occurred. He died of a skull fracture and other injuries in the air base hospital one hour and 34 minutes after falling from the military vehicle.

The services yesterday were conducted by Rev. Harold C. Eaton, pastor of the East Stroudsburg Methodist church. The Monroe County Memorial committee conducted military rites at the Laurelwood cemetery.

Earl Palmer, Edward Steiner, Elmer Heffer, George Hughes, Russell Hoffman and Raymond Butz were the pallbearers.

and was fined $25.
